SPANISH CLAIMS CONFLICTING

TEMPERATURES SOME TEXAS POINTS REACH AN ALL-TIME RECORD

WICHITA FALLS REGISTERED 111 DEGREES, THE HOTTEST POINT IN THE STATE

By The Associated Press.

All-time heat records were equalled in North, Central and East Texas yesterday as the Midwest's heat wave moved into Texas.

At least one death was attributable to the heat and numerous prostrations were reported.

Jack Bennie, 36, Thalia farm laborer, drowned in a small pool northwest of Vernon late Sunday as he sought relief from a 114-degree temperature, the highest in three years.

Shooting up to 114 degrees, temperatures at Childress broke all records since establishment of the government records 10 years ago. The reading was one degree higher than the previous record, established in 1931.

Wichita Falls' all-time record was equalled when the thermometer bounded to 111 degrees. The all-time record also was equalled at Lubbock where 108 degrees were registered.

Temperatures at Sherman and Abilene also registered 108 degrees. At Plainview the temperature was 105 degrees. Only once before in July since records were started had the figure been reached. Paris reported the same reading.

Amarillo in the Panhandle, was relatively cool with 102. In Dallas it was 104 and in Fort Worth 107.

El Paso thermometers stood at 100.

Gulf points were fortunate, Corpus Christi reporting a maximum temperature of 86 degrees, Galveston 88 and Port Arthur 94.

Head Record at Lubbock

LUBBOCK, July 20.—(AP)—The all-time high temperature record of 108 degrees was equaled here yesterday, and the mercury at 8 o'clock this morning was standing three degrees higher than at the same time Sunday.

The plains region, noted for its cool nights when the mercury frequently drops to 60 degrees, sweltered last night under temperatures which did not drop below 80 degrees until 6 o'clock this morning.

Relief in Sight As 14 Die in Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 30.—(AP)—A forecast of thundershowers for eastern Oklahoma held out some hope of relief as 14 persons died today from oppressive heat, bring to 46 the total for the last eight days.

The forecast included a prediction of not quite so warm for

Gomer Smith

When Gomer Smith, an Oklahoma Democrat, made a bitter verbal attack on the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin and the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith at the Townsend convention in Cleveland, above, it precipitated an open clash between rival factions of the old age pension organization. Dr. Francis E. Townsend moved to oust Smith, a vice president of the OARP, because of the Oklahoman's denunciation of Smith and Coughlin in reply to their attacks on President Roosevelt.

Eight Narrowly Escape Death In Dynamite Blast

TEXARKANA, July 20.—(AP)—Eight persons narrowly escaped death here early today when a dynamite blast partially wrecked a residence.

Police said investigation of the explosion disclosed "a possible murder plot."

In the house were Mrs. Dorothy Adams and her two children, Melba, 10, and Gene, 8; Mrs. Ella McClure and her 9-months-old son, Bobbie, and Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Pittman and their son, Hollis, Jr.

Officers said at least two sticks of dynamite were used. The blast blew a hole in the living room floor and wrecked a hallway.

TEXAS CATTLEMAN DECLARES PASTURAGE AVAILABLE FOR STOCK

BETTER TO BRING DROUGHT STRICKEN CATTLE HERE THAN SELL

SAN ANGELO, July 20.—(AP)—An effort to secure pasturage in Texas for livestock in drouth stricken middle western states would be preferable to government purchase of cattle, in the opinion of Ralph H. Harris, San Angelo cattleman and senior member of the executive committee of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association.

"The range from the T. and P. railroad to the Rio Grande, except in a few areas, is the best I ever saw, and could graze all the cattle in both Dakotas," said Harris, who came here from San Antonio in 1879 as a youth of 12. He estimates that Texas could support 50 per cent more livestock than its present number, which is below the average for the last 10 years.

"If the government buys cattle in the dry states it should do so in competition with the packers and not as in 1934 when it slaughtered eight million head and let the packers process much of the edible meat," said Harris.

He scored the administration's reciprocal trade agreement program, declaring lowered tariff has permitted Canada to ship heavy cattle into the United States to the detriment of 30 million people dependent and inter-dependent on livestock raising and agriculture. Largely as the result, he claimed, the market on corn fed cattle in the United States is $6 per 100 pounds less than a year ago, and grass cattle are correspondingly cheaper.

On the other hand, said Harris, American products sold in Canada have not come in conflict with basic Canadian industries and have not increased employment in this country.

Corn Broke at Market Opening; Recovered Some

CHICAGO, July 20—(AP)—Corn broke more than three cents a bushel when the grain market opened today. The flood of resting orders to sell was based largely on improved weather conditions throughout the belt.

The opening tumble that carried July corn down to 85 1-2 and September 82 was followed by a sharp rally as soon as the week end accumulation of orders had been executed. Corn values were boosted back to a level about a cent under Saturday's close.

Some strength in corn apparently was derived from the wheat market, in which prices opened about a cent higher and then continued to mount. Rapid fluctuations in corn values, however with trading on a large scale. indicated wide differences of opinion among traders as to corn crop prospects as a result of cooler weather.

WEARY DELEGATES TO TOWNSEND PLAN CONVENTION RETURN HOME AFTER HEARING LEMKE SPEAK

CLEVELAND, July 20.—(AP)—Townsend national convention left Weary delegates to the second here today with the endorsement by Presidential Candidate William Lemke of "a nold age revolving pension" to give "honest and fair compensation to old people."

The Union party's ticket leader did not directly endorse the Townsend plan in his address yesterday which brought the five day development marked conclave to a close.

"The details of such legislation must of course be worked out by your organization and congress," said the representative from North Dakota.

Terming the program of the present administration "national lunacy," he added. "We no longer have representative government. Due to a corrupt patronage system your congressmen no longer write the laws. They are prepared by a brainless trust, no one of whom could have been elected to office."

The question of how the Townsend family would vote in the November national election was officially undecided as 15,000-odd delegates departed.

By resolution, the convention decided not to endorse "at any time during the campaign, directly or indirectly" any presidential or vice presidential candidate, and that speeches delivered before the conclave represented only views of the speakers.

Dr. F. E. Townsend, the movement's founder. announced plans to tour principal cities with Lemke and yesterday, on a hastily constructed platform, urged his followers to support members of congress pledged to the Townsend program.

John B. Kiefer of Chicago, Mid-Western regional organizer, announced that he would present his resignation from the board of directors at a board meeting scheduled today. While Kiefer declined comment, an informed source said he was dispelased when control of the pension movement was not turned over to the board.

FIVE TRUCK DRIVERS ARRESTED ON CHARGE HAULING "HOT" OIL

THREE PLEAD GUILTY, TWO DECLINE MAKE SUCH PLEAS; TWO ESCAPED

Five truck drivers were arrested and seven trucks, hauling from 20 to 25 barrels of alleged "hot oil" from East Texas oil fields, were placed in the county jail yard early Sunday morning by railroad commission operatives under the direction of F. H. Pierson, district supervisor, with headquarters in Dallas. Two truck drivers escaped with the keys of their vehicles and the trucks were brought to Corsicana by wreckers, officers said. The arrests were made on Highway 75 several miles south of Corsicana in the vicinity of Angus.

Three of the drivers Sunday entered pleas of guilty to charges of transporting untendered oil before Judge W. T. McFadden, justice of the peace, and were fined $50 and costs, $63.15, each. Bonds of $250 were set for the two declining to plead guilty.

Those pleading guilty were Alvin Waters, Melvin Nolan and Homer Brian. Those declining to plead guilty were Bryant Ford and Herbert Lester. The five men were released Sunday night on $250 appeal bonds to the county court.

District Supervisor Pierson, a former resident of Corsicana, stated that it was likely injunctions would be sought against the use of illegal gas and crude oil in this section by operators. He said unless conditions change, a railroad commission inspector

RAINS AND COOLING WINDS COME RELIEF CORN BELT SECTORS

GALE KILLS TWO AND INJURES EIGHT; RELIEF IN MOST OF MID-WEST

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP)—Fresh clouds, alden with crop saving showers, gathered today over parts of the nation's corn belt, where rains and plunging temparatures over the week end routed the heat wave and brought widespread drought relief.

Stiff winds which as some points accompanied the rains added several sudden deaths to the total which sinec the first of the month has exceeded 4,500. Twisting gales flattened crops and caused conciderable property damage in places.

Thunderstorms were general in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Eastern Nebraska, Missouri, and Southern Illinois. More showers were predicted within the next 36 hours for Iowa, Illinois, Missouri and Southern Indiana.

Cooler weather was forecast for tonight and tomorrow for most of the Nrrth Central states, except for Western Nebraska, Kansas and Western Missouri. Tomorrow afternoon more warm weather was expected again in the Dakotas.

Texas and Oklahoma remained in the grip of the heat. A prediction of cooler weather was made for drought stricken Montana.

Selling orders inspired by more favorable weather conditions carried corn futures down almost the full four cent limit permitted as the Chicago pits opened, but later trading brought prices back to about a cent under Saturday's close.

Speculative buyers turned to wheat and that grain at times scored more than two cents a bushel rise.

TESTING OF MOTOR VEHICLES FOR SAFE DRIVING STARTED

SAFETY SQUADRON TEXAS HIGHWAY PATROL CHECK FOR DEFECTS

Actual testing of Corsicana automotive vehicles for defects by members of the safety squadron of the Texas highway patrol was delayed several hours Monday past the original starting schedule, but the time was employed usefully by officials of local service clubs and other organizations in building up a spirit of friendly rivalry.

The complete safety squadron with its special equipment and courtesy sound car arrived in Corsicana shortly before noon for the inauguration of its three-day campaign, and the 100 block on West Collin street between Main and Beaton streets was selected for the six tests given each car by the patrolmen.

Promptly at 1:45 an automobile driven by Mayor J. S. Murchison and carrying Rotary President Fred Blucher, Civitan President Robert Cason, Lion President Dr. L. E. Kelton, E. W. Ellis, president of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce, and Charlton Gunter, Corsicana Daily Sun representative, left the city hall and passed through the "safety lane" with a number of other cars following behind. Testing was scheduled to continue until about 5 p. m.

PUBLIC AUCTION METHOD EFFECTIVE SELLING OIL LAND

CENTURY OLD CUSTOM IS BROKEN; FIRST TRACT BROUGHT $35,000

AUSTIN, July 20.—(AP)—Texas reverted to the colorful public auction method today for the first time in nearly a century to obtain sale of oil and gas leases on approximately 12,000 acres of University of Texas land in West Texas.

Bidders overflowed crowded quarters of the land office, only state land office in the United States, as brisk and sharply competitive bidding marked initial sales. Colonel E. Walters of Skedee, Okla., veteran government auctioneer, conducted the sales.

The first of 76 tracts offered for lease brought $35,000 cash bonus, which was promptly accepted by the board for lease of University lands, which supervised the sales. A dozen hands were raised on the opening bid of $300, set as the minimum for any tract, and many kept the bidding at a fast pace until the offer exceeded $30,000 for the quarter-section.

The tract embraced 160.9 acres in Ector and Crane-Ector counties, section 5, block 35. Production in the Penn pool is slightly over a mile distant. The second tract, in section 6 and of like acreage, brought $32,000.

"If you don't get the acreage in your hands, you're just out of luck," warned the auctioneer as sales started.

From the initial bids, prices jumped quickly to more than $20,000.

"Going at 28 ($28,000)," shouted the auctioneer, "and now the nine—can't you just see the oil rolling out every day—and now the nine." Three hands shot up. Soon it jumped to $34,000.

KIDNAPING DEFENSE WILL ATTACK STATE WITNESS TESTIMONY

NO GOVERNMENT ACTION CONTEMPLATED AGAINST FORMER POLICEMAN

ST. PAUL, July 20.—(AP)—Defense counsel in the kidnaping trial of John (Jack) Peifer, former St. Paul Night Club owner, levelled an attack upon the credibility of Byron Bolton, state witness for the prosecution and author of the statement that a former St. Paul police chief figured in the ransoming of brewer William Hamm.

Attorney Archie Cary declared he would show that Bolton, himself a confessed member of the kidnaping gang, lied on the witness stand when he denied he knew how to operate a machine gun.

"We will show through testimony of witnesses and possibly through cross-examination of Bolton himself, that he took part in the St. Valentine's day massacree in Chicago, in 1929," Cary said. "We can prove that he was an expert machine gunner."

Seven "Bugs" Moran gangsters, lined up in a garage, were chopped down with machine guns in the massacre.

U. S. District Attorney George F. Sullivan said the government contemplated no action against Tom Brown, the police officer Bolton said was figured for $25,-

OLD AGE PENSIONS BRAND NEW ISSUE IS FOCAL POINT TODAY IN GUBERNATORIAL CAMPAIGN

(Editor's Note:—This is the first of a series of three stories on issues in the governor's race. The second will deal with taxation and the third with other issues.)

By HARRELL E. LEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, July 20.—(AP)—Old age pensions, never before an issue in a governor's race in Texas, has been the most discussed question in the first primary campaign ending next Saturday.

All four opponents of Governor Allred in his bid for a second term have spent much of their time attacking the pension law enacted last fall and the governor's administration of it.

Their criticism has been generally that the law isn't as liberal as the people intended when they approved the pension constitutional amendment last summer by an overwhelming majority, that the pensions haven't been adequately financed and that the governization appointed by the governor has been slow in getting the payments started.

They also charge that administrative expense of investigating the pension applications and collecting the liquor taxes with which to pay the old people is high and that the pension and liquor organizations are political machines.

Allred Proud of Results.

In the face of this constant hammering at his pension record, Governor Allred has stated that he is proud of the results of the law. He asserts that more old persons already are receiving assistance in Texas than in any other state except Ohio and New York and that pensioners in Texas likely will outnumber those in New York by the end of the month.

The governor has called attention to the fact that the old age pension constitutional amendment was approved and the law putting it into effect enacted during his administration. He contends that his opponents did nothing to get the pensions started. The law would have become effective three months earlier, he says, if state Senator Roy Sanderford,

MYSTERY SHROUDS CO-ED'S DEATH

Slender clues found by police after the murder of blonde Helen Clevenger, 19-year-old New York university co-ed, led to a search for a Washington, D. C., man as the slayer. Shot to death in her hotel room at Asheville, N. C., Miss Clevenger was mutilated about the face by her assailant who apparently killed the girl as she pleaded for mercy while on her knees.

VIOLINIST HELD IN CONNECTION BRUTAL MURDER OF GIRL

SHERIFF HOLDS MAN DESPITE AN ALIBI HE OFFERED AS TO WHEREABOUTS

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 20.—(AP)—Sheriff Laurence E. Brown stacked the world of several witnesses today against an alibi he said Mark Wollner, 35-year old concert violinist, had offered to account for his whereabouts on the night Helen Clevenger was mutilated and shot to death.

While a thunderstorm raged about the fashionable resort hotel, the Battery Park, around 1 a. m., last Thursday the pretty, 18-year old New York University coed was assaulted, her face gouged with a sharp instrument and shot while apparently on her knees in supplication.

A taxi driver said he saw a man leap from the hotel's mezzanine balustrade 12 feet to the ground about the time of the killing.

Wollner, who has been estranged from his wife for two years, has a studio across the street from the hotel.

He was detained for questioning Saturday night and was still under "investigation" in a jail cell in the county courthouse today.

Withought a more specific charge a prisoner cannot thus be held legally for more than 48 hours.

Mildred Ward, 19, at whose home the German-born violinist roomed, also was detained after she coroberated Wollner's statement he had been at home between 9.30 p. m., Wednesday and 9:30 a. m., Thursday.

A frail, sickly girl, she finally was quoted after several hours of questioning as adding to her original statement that "Mark Phoned me a little before he was arrested and asked me, 'where was I last night?"

Sheriff Brown said he has found

Ships and Planes Widen Search For Missing Vessel

TAMPA, Fla., July 20.—(AP)—The sea stubbornly held to its latest secret today while ships and planes widened their search for the motorship Nuncoa, missing with 22 aboard.

The staunch, 110-foot vessel from Georgetown, Grand Cayman, in the West Indies July 4 and should have reached Tampa about four days later. She has not been heard from since sailing.

When the Nuncoa headed north she carried provisions enough to last her 13 passengers and crew of nine about a week. She had no wireless equipment.

Owners' agents here pointed to the proven seaworthiness of the three-year-old craft to back their expressed belief that the Nuncoa would be found afloat although perhaps disabled.

No storms have swept the line of her course since her sailing.

POLITICS AT PRESENT BASING ACTIVITIES UPON TACTICS AS NEW FACTORS ENCOUNTERED

By EDWARD J. DUFFY
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—That old problem in politics as in war—tactics—is pushing to the fore as party leaders await the speech by Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas accepting the Republican presidential nomination in Topeka Thursday.

With new and potentially important factors such as drought, organized labor dissension and developments at the Townsend convention entering the picture daily, all hands are watching to see which particular issues the presidential candidates choose to stress and how they will maneuver their shock troops.

None of the candidates has committed himself publicly to a hard and fast course. But all have indicated determination to strike out aggressively with arguments subordinating party loyalties to fundamental principles.

Both Gov. Landon and President Roosevelt have been in consultation with their lieutenants on the tasks ahead. One angle is the integration of the national campaigns with those for the senate in a third of the states, for the entire house of representatives, and for 36 governorships as well as innumerable local offices.

The persuading of Governor Herbert Lehman to run for re-election in New York and the decision of Frank Murphy to stand for governor in Michigan had their points in Democratic planning.

Although no itinerary has been announced, Mr. Roosevelt is expected to do his share of New Deal speechmaking. Vice President Garner's plans remain to be made.

The principal Republican stumping in the West meanwhile, will be the vice presidential nominee, Col. Frank Knox. Mr. Landon's plans evidently will place him in the East first.

His campaign manager, John D. M. Hamilton, has been giving special attention recently to New

GOVERNMENT SAYS SITUATION WELL IN HAND ON MONDAY

OTHER SOURCES INDICATE REBELS CONTROL ALL SPANISH MOROCCO

By ALEXANDER H. UHL
(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press.)

MADRID, July 20.—The government today announced itself "master" of the situation in Spain after loyal forces, using artillery and bombing planes, had blasted rebellious capital garrisons into submission.

However, rebel troops, apparently under the leadership of the rightest General Francisco Franco, were reported in control of Spanish Morocco where an insurrection with rightist tendencies broke out Friday.

More than 1,000 army officers were announced as under arrest by their commands in Madrid by order of the government.

An official statement said province after province was announcing its submission to the central government.

(Sources outside Spain said control over southern provinces had been gained by rebel forces, some of which had crossed into the peninsula from Spanish Morocco.)

The government declared the rebel columns in Segovia province had been scattered by a loyal air corps attack which drove them back toward Miranda with numerous losses.

Must Not Lose Fight.

In a victory announcement a government spokesman declared: "Spanish citizens: The movement in insurreciton has been subjugated absolutely and it is necessary not to lose the fight.

"Everyone should return to normal life. Bakers should start work in order to provide bread for all citizens and for all courageous soldiers of liberty.

"We need to continue the fight against reaction and fascism.

"The government has received a large number of adhesions from all elements of the state. The government is master of the situation.

"Among the adhesions was that of the first tank regiment which has been loyal to the government from the beginning."

(A radio broadcast from Seville in which the fall of the Madrid government was announced was reported by the Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Gibraltar. He stated the broadcast ended: "Long live Spain! Long live the army!"

Rush of Refugees.

(Spanish military planes from Africa were reported continually passing over Gibraltar on the way to the interior of Spain. There was a general rush of refugees to Gibraltar from La Linea because of fears that rebel fliers would bomb

TEXAS DROWNINGS ON INCREASE; SOME SENSIBLE "DONT'S"

AUSTIN, July 20.—(Spl.)—In Texas, during 1935, there were 371 deaths from accidental drowning, according to records in the State Bureau of Vital Statistics. This is an increase of 54 over the number reported for the year 1934, and an increase of 85 over the number reported for 1933.

"While water sports are the greatest of all sports during the summer season, they present certain hazards which should be heeded," said Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer. "Accidental drowning would not occur if each individual respected the fact that water is not man's natural element, and governed his activities in the water by standards of safety.

"Certain precautions should be taken by all swimmers:

1. Never swim alone—especially in deserted places where no rescue is available in case of an emergency.
2. Do not let young children go out in deep water even if they know how to swim, unless some older person proficient in life saving, is with them.
3. Do not go in bathing directly after eating. Wait two hours before taking the plunge.
4. Do not dive in unfamiliar places until you are sure of the depth of the water and the absence of rocks.
5. Do not overtax your strength—work up gradually to a long swim by strengthening the muscles first.
6. Do not swim when fatigued.
7. Do not create a hazard for other swimmers by childish pranks and smart tricks.

"Accidental drownings, with few exceptions, occur through lack of proper safeguards or in places without adequate supervision. Take your swim in one of the approved sanitary swimming pools now available in most communities, and help reduce the deaths in Texas from drowning."

POWERFUL SERMONS DELIVERED AT M P. CHURCH ON SUNDAY

Two large congregations gathered at the Methodist Protestant church Sunday and heard the Rev. H. E. Maggart preach two powerful sermons.

Mr. Maggart used as his text Sunday morning, "Have Faith in God." He exhorted his hearers to exercise greater faith, telling them that a revival meeting is impossible without faith in God. Before the message was finished almost every person was weeping. At the close of this service God's people were invited to an altar of reconsecration. A large portion of the congregation came.

In the evening service Rev. Mr. Maggart preached, using as his text Rev. 22:13, "I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, first and last." The public is invited to attend these meetings. Services each day at 10 a. m., and each evening at 8:15 p. m.—Reporter.

TOWNSEND NATIONAL CONVENTION WILL NOT ENDORSE CANDIDATES

FEW DELEGATES, HOWEVER, WANT TO GIVE SPECIFIC SUPPORT

CLEVELAND, July 18.—(AP)—The Townsend national convention adopted today a resolution declaring that the old age pension organization "shall not at any time during this campaign, directly or indirectly x x endorse any presidential or vice-presidential candidate."

This was the answer of the Townsend convention to the oft-asked question of which way the "Townsend family" would throw its vote in November. There were some few delegates who said they wanted to endorse specific presidential candidates.

They obviously were much in the minority, however, since there were only a few scattered "noes" as the resolution was adopted.

A $200 monthly pension for the aged was uppermost in the hearts and minds of the delegates. Political ramifications of the convention, for the most part failed to stir their interest.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, the idolized leader of the rank and file delegates, as announced he would not vote for either President Roosevelt or Governor Landon. He told newsmen he would not attempt to "coerce" his followers but that he personally would support, work for and "help elect" Representative Lemke, of North Dakota, Union Party presidential candidate.

A few minutes later the convention demonstrated again its aversion to becoming involved in politics as it sent back to the committee, with a thunderous vote a resolution that delegates "recommend a common clause alignment with any groups which will include in their program an unqualified endorsement of Townsend principles and this reciprocity of action shall be directed toward nominating and electing Townsend plan endorsed candidates for president.

Any prospect, leaders said, of a new political party incorporating the Townsend organization with similar social groups was put to rest when the convention sent the "common cause" alignment resolution back to the committee.

Peace Restored For Life of Convention

CLEVELAND, July 18.—(AP)—The second Townsend national convention today swung into its fourth day with peace among its warring leaders seemingly secure until at least after adjournment Sunday.

A threat by Dr. F. E. Townsend, the movement's founder, that he would not sit with the board of directors until the ouster of Gomer Smith of Oklahoma, a board member and national vice president, drew the following statement from the board early today:

"No action will be taken by Dr. Townsend or the national board to censure any of the speakers that have appeared."

The elderly pension chief then issued a statement which read:

"In view of the stress of other business of the convention, no further action will be taken regarding Mr. Gomer Smith remaining upon the board of directors until after the convention."

Other developments were:

A suit filed in common pleas court late yesterday, by the Rev. Alfred J. Wright of Cleveland, a deposed national director, asking removal of Dr. Townsend and other officers, and an accounting of $1,000,000 in Townsend clubs' money which the suit charged has been "dissipated."

Clements Makes Statement

A statement by Robert E. Clements, who recently resigned as Townsend secretary and treasurer, that the plan was being "taken over by "political opportunists." Clements' statement was contained in an interview.

Announcement that Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president, would address the convention today, after invitations extended to Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, the republican nominee, and President Roosevelt were declined.

Conferences were held by Sylvester V. McMahon, secretary of the National Union for Social Justice and William Lemke, Union Party presidential nominee who is scheduled to speak Sunday, the closing day. McMahon said Lemke also conferred with "someone from the Townsend organization" before leaving for Chicago.

A telegram to the convention from Byron Defenbach of Boise, Townsend-endorsed opponent of Senator William E. Borah in the Idaho republican primary, to "drop this third party presidential controversy," because "our people have been taught from the beginning of the movement that the election of Townsend men—senate and congress—was to be the sole objective in this campaign."

Denounced Coughlin and Lemke

Tre dissension between Dr. Townsend and Gomer Smith was when the Oklahoman in a platform address Thursday made a vigorous speech against Father Charles E. Coughlin, head of the National Union, who has endorsed Lemke, and the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, self-styled head of the Share-the-Wealth clubs, and opposed affiliation with any third party.

Dr. Townsend announced he personally favored the presidential aspirations of Lemke, and later said he would participate in a tour with Lemke, Father Coughlin and Gerald Smith. Three days before, however, the pension plan originator said he could name "at least a dozen" men he would prefer to Lemke as president.

A hectic night of marching up and down halls preceded the at least temporary peace over Gomer Smith's status. Dr. Townsend first walked to the board meeting with Gerald Smith. When he discovered Gomer was present he turned around and walked out—back to his hotel room.

Smiths Back Together.

The board continued its meeting and later recessed while a committee composed of Dempster O. Potts, Frank A. Arbuckle, convention chairman, and Gilmour Young, national secretary, called on the doctor. He returned to the meeting, and later retired.

While the committee was calling on Dr. Townsend, the two Smiths, Gomer and Gerald, emerged from the room together, back on speaking terms.

"We are going to be the biggest power in this Townsend movement," said Gerald, and looked at Gomer. Gomer nodded assent. Over a glass of milk downstairs, they refused to say what had happened.

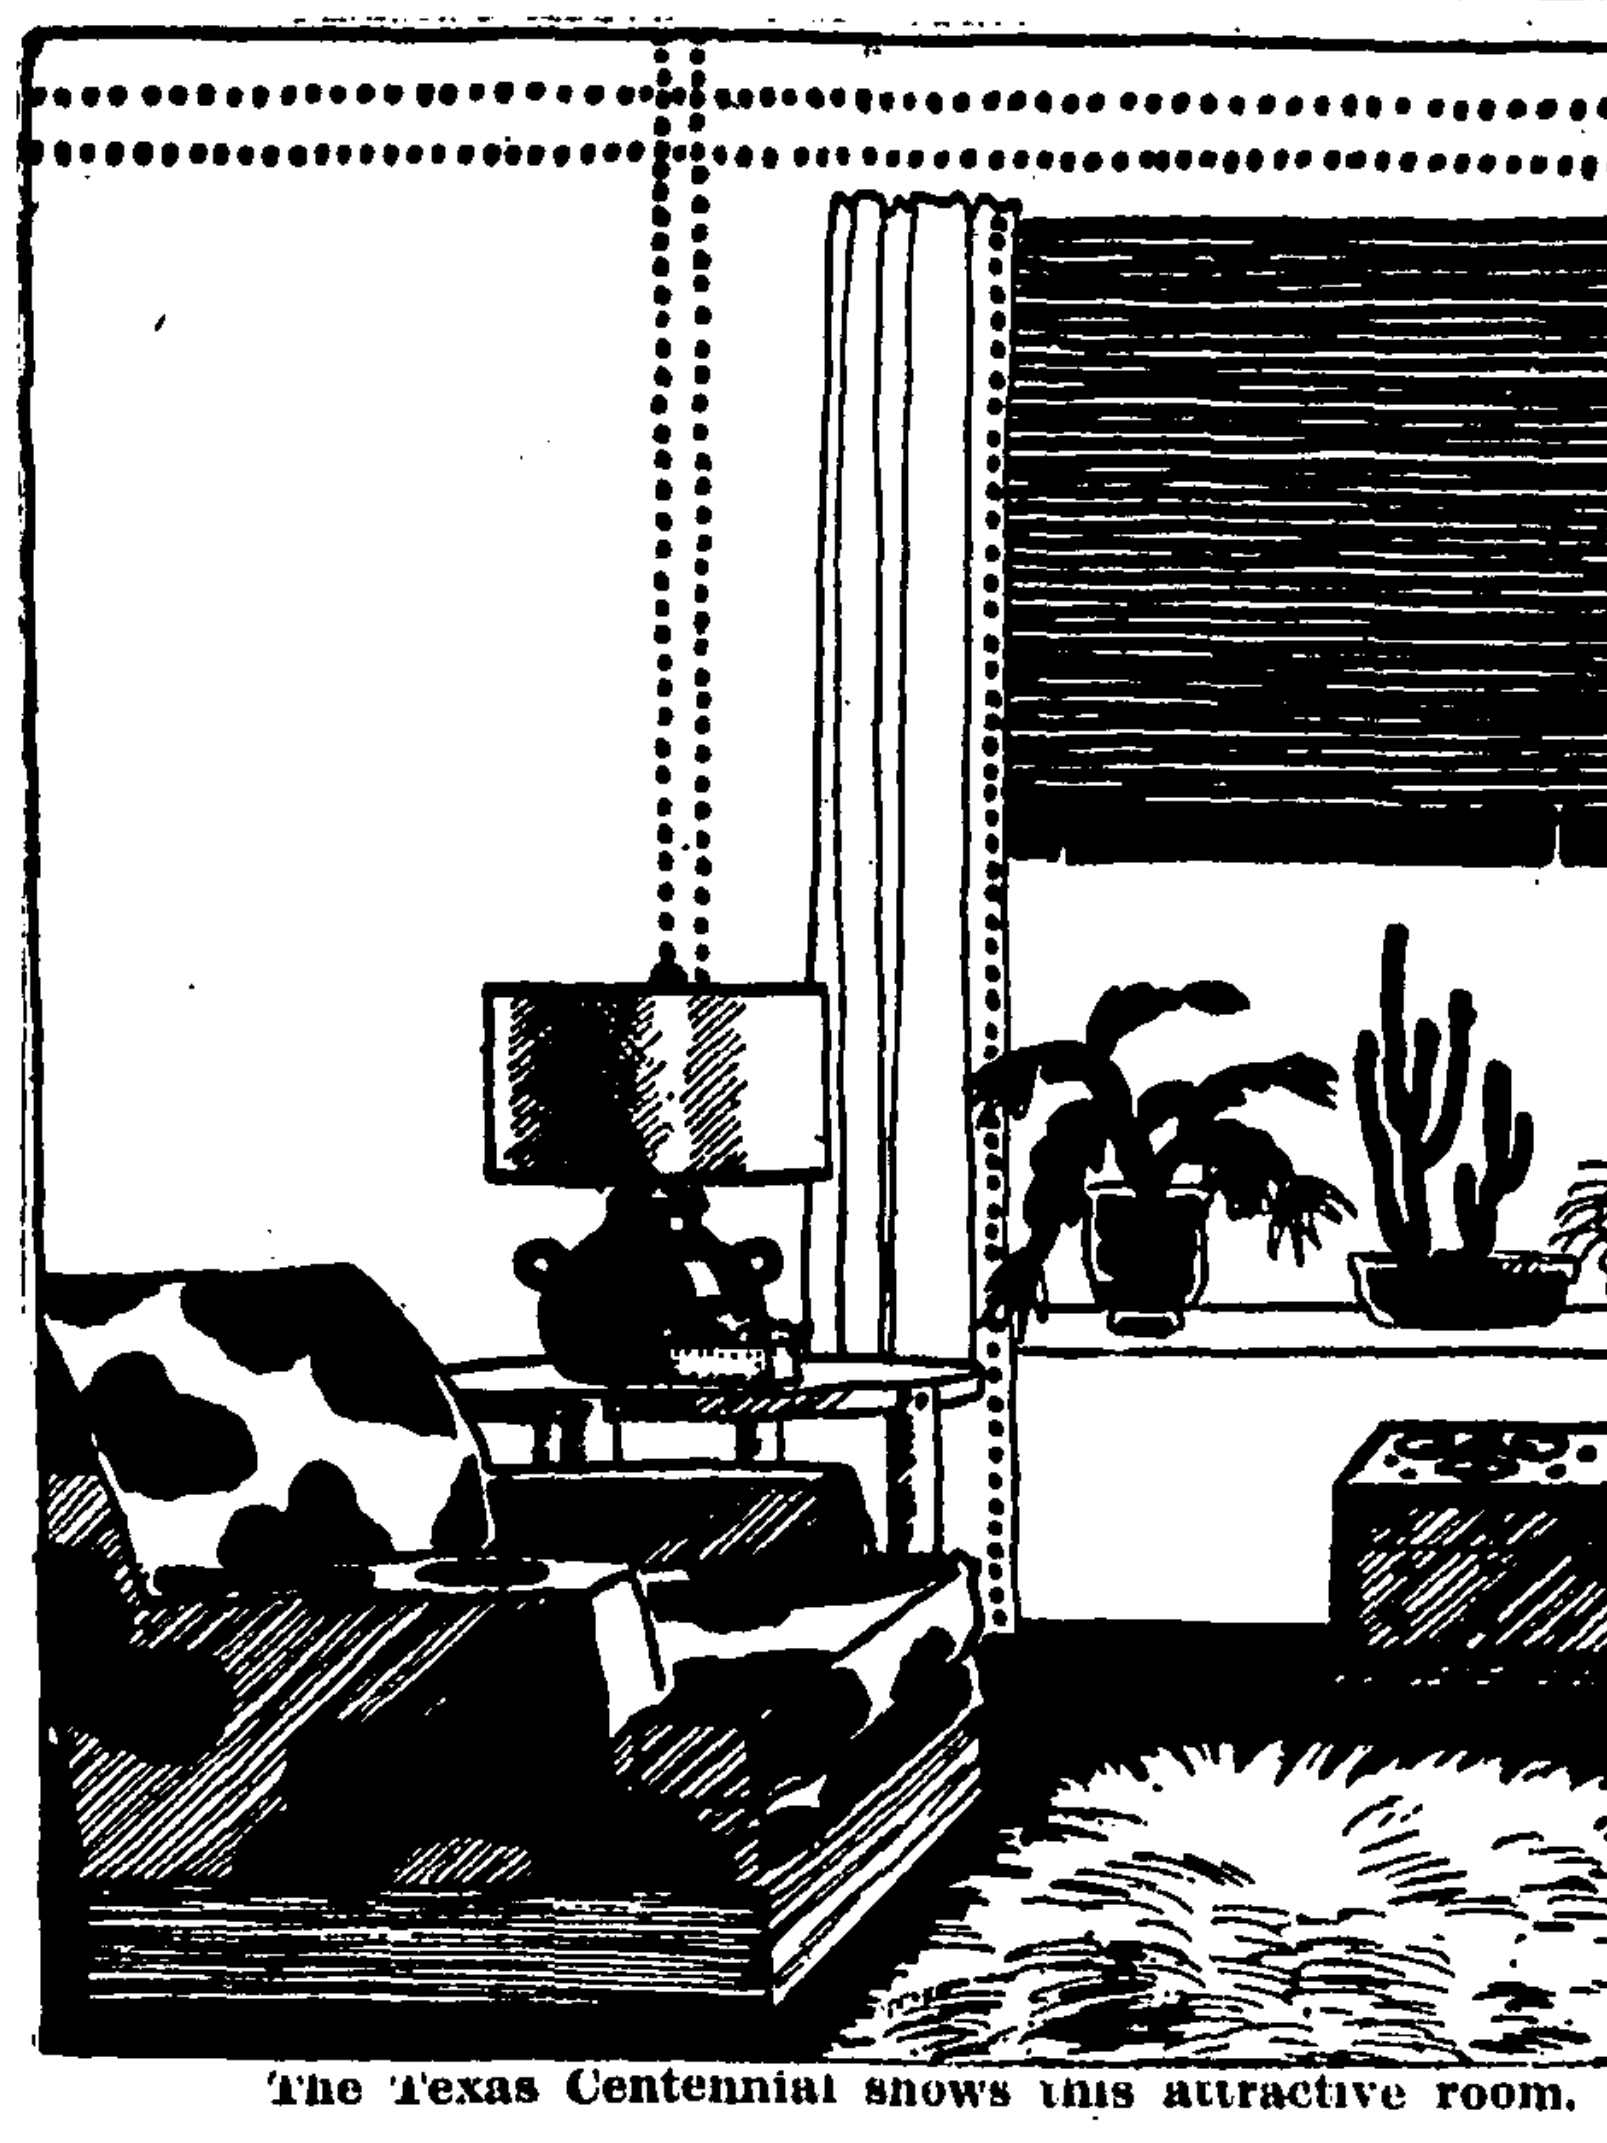
Texas Offers Smart New Colors

Cattle Branders Lend Designs to Chintz

By MARGERY TAYLOR

(Copyright, 1936, by McCall's Magazine for the Daily Sun.)



The Texas Centennial shows this attractive room.

Texas—not Paris, London or New York—is the style center of the moment.

The centennial celebration is producing some attractive new colors and also a host of novel designs.

The contribution to interior decoration is not all rough and "he-manish," either. The four colorful periods of Texas history have plenty of romance—the Spanish exploration, the Mexican invasion, the Indian settlement and the days of the Texas rangers and the pioneer women.

"Bluebonnet blue" from the Texas state flower) is the blue of fashion this year. Then there's sage green, a gray-yellow green perfect for walls because it is neither warm nor cold and will go with almost any other color. 'Prickly pear yellow" is rich, exotic golden—and it is beautifully set off by the gray white of "yucca blossom."

Another striking room color scheme inspired by Texas uses "peyote pink" for walls, rug of weathered gray like desert rocks and accent notes of "spring star purple" and "candlewood red.' And for atmosphere, why not a white fur rug—chaps style—for fun?

The new china, chintzes, wallpapers, ceramic—all have gone to the Southwest for designs. These and other decorative accessories are lively with Texas stars, cattle brand, cactus, the Texas goat. jackrabbit and armadillo.

And now we have suede cloths and leathers for walls—studded with nail heads.

MISS DOROTHY MITCHELL WEDS FRANCIS A. MOORE, JR., FRIDAY NIGHT IN HOUSTON CEREMONY

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Mitchell, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Allin F. Mitchell of Corsicana, to Francis A. Moore, Jr., was solemnized at 8 o'clock Friday night in the Trinity Episcopal church, Houston, and the report which appeared in Saturday's Houston Chronicle, will be read with wide interest in Corsicana.

Mrs. Moore is a graduate of the Corsicana high school, and has made her home for a number of years with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell. She was popular in high school, having participated in many student activities, and her many Corsicana friends wish for her much happiness.

Following is the report of the marriage:

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Mitchell, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Allin Fowler Mitchell of Corsicana, to Francis Aldrich Moore, Jr., son of Mrs. Andre Calvert, which was solemnized in Trinity Episcopal church last night, was of interest to a wide circle of friends throughout the state. Bishop Clinton S. Quin read the ritual and Mrs. Harry McLean gave the wedding music, which included the program while the guests assembled, and the processional and recessional.

The bridal party grouped before a setting of Woodwardia fern which filled white baskets over which fell the soft gleam of white candles in white pedestal candlebra, and the altar vases held white asters and feverfew, the blossoms being touched into deeper beauty by the glow of the altar candles.

Bridal Gown.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Mitchell, was gowned in an exquisite model of white Alencon lace, made on princess lines, with the skirt merging into a sweeping train. The costume had long sleeves and De Medici collar and was enveloped in the folds of a voluminous tulle veil adjusted at the head with a cap of the rare lace which fashioned the wedding gown. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and maiden hair fern twined with brocaded satin ribbon.

For her traveling costume the bride wore a smart creation of black sheer, a tailored model having trimming touches of white pique. Her hat was a chic fall model matching the suit, and her white gardenia corsage added to the harmony.

Attendants' Gowns.

The maid of honor, Miss Josephine Wilson of San Antonio, was gowned in an alluring creation of yellow mousselaine de soie having a yoke outlined with a small ruffle and wide puffed sleeves. The ruffle trimming was repeated about the edge of the skirt, which extended into a slight train. She wore an off-the-face hat of transparent hair braid and carried a cascade bouquet of coral tiger lilies. The bridesmaids included Miss Virginia Middleton of Corsicana, who wore delicate pink mousselaine de soie made after the model worn by the maid of honor, Miss Pauline Womack of Corsicana, who was in soft blue, and Miss Elva Johnson, who was in pale green. All wore the smart off-the-face hats and all carried the colorful lilies.

Hugh G. Alexander, Jr., served as best man, and groomsmen were James E. Elkins, Jr., Beverly W. Page and William Monte Dritt, Mrs. Calvert, mother of the groom, was gowned in blue chiffon and lace made with a jacquette and wore a hat of matching hue and an orchid shoulder corsage. Mrs. Mitchell, aunt of the bride, wore soft blue lace with matching hat and an orchid corsage.

Supper Follows Ceremony.

A small supper was given at the Calvert home after the church ceremony for the bridal party. White asters and feverfew were used about the rooms and the polished table had at one end an oblong reflector overlaid with gardenias, on which stood a crystal and silver epergne holding lilies of the valley, and the ring shaped wedding cake at the other, wreathed in the dainty lilies.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip to New Orleans, and will make their home in Pearsall.

Guests coming from other points for their wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Sam Calvert, Mr. and Mrs. J. Melton and Loff Calvert, all of Natchez, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bartlett of Palestine and the attendants.

ATTORNEY ASSERTS POLYGAMY IS STILL PRACTICED BY CULT

KINGMAN, Ariz., July 18.—(AP)—County Attorney E. Elmo Bollinger, following an investigation of conditions in the isolated Short Creek community, said today he was considering asking the assistance of U. S. Attorney General Cummings in stamping out polygamy, which, he asserted, is flourishing on the Arizona-Utah border.

Bollinger, nearly a year ago, instituted an investigation at Short creek which resulted in the conviction of two men and a plea of guilty from a woman accused of "open and notorious cohabitation."

"Conditions at Short Creek are growing steadily worse," the prosecutor said. "As a result I have vigorously protested granting a parole to I. C. Spencer, one of the men convicted last December."

Spencer and Price Johnson are serving 18-month sentences in the state prison. A hearing on Spencer's application for parole is scheduled for Monday.

Bollinger said he learned during his trip to Short Creek that the convictions apparently have not deterred members of the cult from practicing plural marriage, which they assert is a part of their religious belief.

HOOVER'S G-MEN VICTORS IN SLEUTH MOVEMENT CHARGES

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(AP)—J. Edgar Hoover's G-men emerged victorious today from what was reported to be an undercover conflict between them and the secret serivice.

Summoned to headquarters by superiors, several secret service men were enroute in from the field today to explain reports that some of their number engaged in an investigation of the G-Men's methods in hunting down western "public enemies."

Officials of the treasury, which has jurisdiction over the secret service, emphasized that any such investigation was unauthorized. They indicated that if the reports proved correct, they were ready to apologize to Attorney General Cummings and to take drastic disciplinary steps against the secret service men in event Cummings should insist on such action.

Cummings, Hoover's superior, recently voiced suspicions that they had been some "ill-advised" activity by the secret service and warned that anyone trying to get Hoover's scalp would have to contend with the attorney general himself.

Treasury officials said that those ordered to Washington for questioning included Joseph Murphy, assistant chief to the secret service, Grady L. Boatwright, agent in charge at St. Paul, and others.

W. H. Reenolds, treasury official, said he had heard that secret service men at St. Paul had inquired into the shooting of Eddie Green, Dillinger gangster, by agents of Hoover's federal bureau of investigation.

The secret service's function is to run down counterfeiters and protect the person of the president.

TWELVE BODIES ARE RECOVERED IN RUINS QUAKE-WRECKED CITY

TUQUERRES, COLOMBIA, IS STRICKEN; DEATH LIST SMALL IS BELIEF

TUQUERRES, Colombia, July 18.—(AP)—Twelve bodies were found today in the ruins of earthquake-shaken Tuquerres.

It was believed, however, that the number of casualties from the disaster which struck yesterday would not be large because a majority of the inhabitants have been living in provisional wooden huts in their back yards since the earthquakes last November and January.

The first relief commissions arrived from Ipiales and Pasto, Columbia, where the Spanish colonial town—founded in 1549, 25 miles from the Ecuadorean border—formerly existed.

NEW YORK, July 18.—(AP)—Details of a disastrous earthquake which virtually destroyed Tuquerres, Colombia, late yesterday, leaving thousands homeless were anxiously awaited here today.

Communications failed shortly after the shock and had not been restored early today.

First reports said that shocks had been felt at Pasto, 40 miles from Tuquerres, causing heavy damage. It was feared that there had been loss of many lives.

Pasto is the capital of the Department of Marino, located in the Andes tablelands. Tuquerres, with 8,500 persons, lies near a volcano, more than 13,000 feet in altitude.

The Department of Marino, affected by the earthquake, has a population of 20,000.

Glass Denounces Present Trend Of U. S. Government

ASHLAND, Va., July 18.—(AP)—Carter Glass, Virginia's 78-year-old democratic senator, brought the Patrick Henry Bicentennial celebration to a climax with a declaration that the present administration is a "government of privilege and discrimination."

Speaking last night at a gathering on the campus of the historic Randolph Macon college, Senator Glass said the present government is such a government as Henry denounced in Virginia's house of Burgesses.

Henry, he said, held it to be "improper to take money of taxpayers of Virginia and appropriate it to pay off mortgages that had been made by thriftless and unwise individuals."

"That is just what we are doing in this country today," Glass said "whether it be due to the mismanagement of bank managers, insurance company managers, or the mismanager of business or railroads. The government's nose is in all sorts of business today."

The President, he said "made the mistake of taking all the power that congress was willing to give him. It is the congress that should be blamed for abjectly surrendering its own constitutional functions and delegating them to the President of the United States and to various minor executive officials."

Man and Woman Killed In Crash Of Plane In Indiana

FAIR OAKS, Ind., July 18.—(AP)—Motor trouble and inability to find a suitable landing field were given today by Sheriff Vern Michael as probable causes of a flaming plane crash which killed William G. Leamon, 41, believed to be a mining company official of Chicago, and Anaconda, Mont., and Mrs. B. M. Musselman, also of Anaconda.

The ship plunged into an oats field near here last night after the pilot had dropped a flare, apparently seeking level ground for a landing.

Coroner W. J. Wright said he found three unused flares in the wreckage and declared the plane evidently fell so suddenly that Leamon had no chance to drop them.

Wright said the plane was a single-motored four-passenger (Waco) ship.

The plane bore the insignia "Toro Mining Corporation, Anaconda, Mont."

Mrs. Musselman's husband said at Moose Lake, Mont., that his wife and Leamon, accompanied by Leamon's two sons, flew to Chicago last Sunday from Butte, Mont. ,in the pilot's private plane supposedly the one which figured in the tragedy.

Musselman said his wife went on to New York but was to have returned to Chicago and then by plane with Leamon last night to Anaconda.

NORMAN THOMAS IS SATURDAY SPEAKER FOR TOWNSENDITES

SOCIALIST CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENCY TELLS OF PARTY PRINCIPLES

By SCOTT HERSHEY
Associated Press Staff Writer.

CLEVELAND, July 18.—(AP)—The second national Townsend convention booed Norman Thomas today, when he told the delegates he could not endorse the Townsend plan.

Thomas declared he did not think "you can rescue prosperity with a two per cent transaction tax—not without inflation," and again he was booed, but when he concluded his address delegates applauded loudly.

CLEVELAND, July 18.—(AP)—Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president, told the Townsend national convention today he did not come before them to ask for an endorsement of his candidacy, but to tell them about the principles of his party and its relation to Townsend old-age pensions plan.

He added that it was entirely proper the convention had agreed not to endorse any political party or presidential candidate.

The delegates gave Thomas a great round of applause as he appeared on the platform and they applauded again when he said that "security for old age is a magnificent program and one which I can endorse."

Referring to the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, Thomas said he was hopeful that Smith could answer one question for him before he left and that is: "I want to know how Mr. Smith expects his candidate, Mr. Lemke, of the Union Party, to get on the ballot in Louisiana, Mr. Smith's state."

State Hardboiled.

"His state, controlled so long by his hero, Huey P. Long, is one of the hardest states in the Union for a minority party to get on the ballot. How is Mr. Lemke going to get on that ballot."

After describing difficulties a minority party encountered in some states, Thomas inquired.

"May I ask you not as partisans, but as Americans, do you mean what you say about democracy? If you do mean what you say, why don't you give us what you call democracy in the states where you live?" Thomas asked.

He added that the states are not big enough to grapple successfully with poverty in the United States. He criticized the republican and democratic platforms for their stand on social legislation.

"I have the right to appeal to you to help us enact legislation which the American people believe is necessary for their well-being," Thomas said. "You and I know we live in a country where poverty is inexcusable."

No Distant Utopia.

"We are promising you no distant feast in utopia," shouted Thomas. "There is a lot we can do for men and women now. We can promise that if you will organize you can win abundance. You can carry out the dreams of the patriots. But it is a job to be done. We don't think that can be done by the proposal so dear to your hearts."

When Thomas announced he could not endorse the Townsend plan he was greeted with a chorus of boos.

It was necessary at one point for Dr. Townsend to step to the microphone and ask his fellowers to "please be courteous to the man you have invited to speak."

"It is too bad you are not using your magnificent enthusiasm to bring about your real emancipation," said Thomas.

Can't Recover Under Plan.

"You can't recover under the capitalist systemor under this particular plan," Thomas said. "You can't keep capitalism and do this trick, Nor do I think you can rescue prosperity with a two percent transaction tax—not without inflation."

The delegates did not like this and there were a few boos.

Thomas added that he did not believe the pension money could be raised under the proposed transaction tax.

"I am not fighting the democratic party," said Thomas. "I am fighting the republican party, but I do not think America is going to be helped by a campaign of hate.

"I believe in religious freedom," he continued. "I believe in protest against breach of religious freedom, but I do not believe in interference in Mexico. I wish you would ask Mr. Lemke how he feels about interference in Mexico."

Refers to Coughlin.

"Father Coughlin spoke to you and you cheered him to an echo," said Thomas in response to boos at one section of his speech, "but Father Coughlin did not retract the statement that he thought your plan was economic insanity."

Thomas threw into his speech a demand that the audience ask Lemke how he would attain the goal of economic security when Lemke addresses the convention tomorrow.

The socialist candidate asserted that Father Coughlin's opposition to President Roosevelt probably was based on the President's refusal to intervene in behalf of Mexican Catholics in their difficulties with the Mexican government.

The delegates forgot their booing when Thomas finished and he was loudly applauded as he walked from the platform.

Nine Members Of Two Pennsylvania Families Killed

DUNDEE, Mich., July 18—(AP)—Nine members of two Pennsylvania families were killed today when their sedan was struck by an Ann Arbor passenger train shortly after they left the home where they had been visiting here.

The locomotive smashed into the automobile, dragged it 75 feet to a high trestle, and hurled the bodies of the victims 30 feet into the shallow water of the Raisin river. Wreckage of the automobile burst into flames, and ignited ties of the bridge, but the fire was quickly extinguished.

The victims were identified as Mr .and Mrs. Harry Schuster, and their daughters, Vina, 19; Anna, 12, and Sandra Jean, 6 months old; and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pisano, and their daughters, Betty 9, and Mary 6.

The Schusters lived in Farrell, Pa., and the Pisano family in Wheatland.

The two families had stayed overnight with Schuster's brother, Carl, who collapsed on learning of the tragedy. Mrs. Pisano and Mrs .Harry Schuster were sisters.

CONFESSED HAMM KIDNAPER ACCUSES FORMER POLICE HEAD

DECLARES $25,000 OF RANSOM TAKEN SET ASIDE FOR TOM BROWN

ST. PAUL, July 18.—(AP)—A confessed kidnaper's declaration that Former Police Chief Tom Brown was figured by gangsters for a $25,000 "cut" in proceeds of the $100,000 William Hamm kidnaping was met with silence by the accused man today as safety commissioner Gus Barfuss announced he would follow Brown's suspension from the department with a full investigation.

"I have nothing to say," was Brown's reply to the accusation, made yesterday by Byron Bolton, government witness in the trial of John P. Peifer, former St. Paul night club owner charged with participating in the kidnpaing.

Said Barfuss:

"When the trial is concluded, Brown will be given an opportunity to explain. If further investigation shows he had any association with the kidnapers or kidnaping, not proper for a police officer, he will be discharged and all information which we gather and which the federal government has obtained will be used in prosecution."

Half an hour after Bolton's witness stand declaration, Barfuss suspended Brown from his post as head of the police automobile theft department "without prejudice" pending further inquiry.

Not Doing Anything.

U. S. District Attorney George F. Sullivan said, "we are not doing anything about it. The federal bureau of investigation is the investigating department. Our job is prosecution.

"Both the Lindbergh act and state laws are outlawed in three years in a kidnaping case. In the Hamm abduction, the offense itself was outlawed on June 19. (Hamm was freed June 18, 1933.)

"It might be possible to extend the statute until the time of the last activity in changing the money had been accomplished."

Bolton testified that when the kidnapers divided the ransom money on July 25, 1933, at a hideout in Long Lake, Ill., the bank notes already had been exchanged for "good money" at least a week before, at Reno, Nev.

Wanted to Get Back.

He said that at the meeting Fred Goetz, alias George "Shotgun" Ziegler, later slain by the gang, "asked Peifer to stay over a few days, after the splitup was made, and Peifer said, 'no, I have this $40,000 and a lot of it doesn't belong to me, and I want to get back to St. Paul with it.'

"I received $7,800," the witness continued. "Each of the others who took part in the kidnaping itself got $7,800, $25,000 was set aside for Tom Brown and $10,000 for Peifer."

Peifer, Bolton said, told the gang he had "gotten word from Brown to take the people, Freddie Barker and Paula Harmon" out of a hideout house in an exclusive residential district of St. Paul,

"Peifer said that Brown got a call from some people to investigate the occupants and that they were going to raid the house," Bolton testified. "Peifer said he went to the house and instructed them to leave."

Gang Leaders Lived There.

Government witnesses said Alvin Karpis, Freddie Barker and Arthur (Doc) Barker, leaders of the kidnap gang, lived in the house with associates for several weeks before the crime was committed.

At the time of the kidnaping John McDonald was St. Paul Public Safety Commissioner, Thomas Dahill, chief of police, and William Mahoney, mayor.

Mayor Mark Gehan said Brown was the center of an investigation two months ago after the mayor received reports associating the police officer's name with persons figuring in the kidnaping. Mayor Gehan said there was insufficient evidence to warrant any action.

Brown became a patrolman 22 years ago and in five years was appointed as a detective. In 1926 he was indicted in a liquor conspiracy case involving 122 persons in many cities and was suspended from the force, but reinstated when the charges were dropped.

French Resort Is Shelled By Sub In Sinking of Vessel

NICE, France, July 18.—(AP)—A French submarine accidentally shelled the French Riveria resort town of Sainte Maxime last night while trying to sink a burning yacht at sea.

Two of the shells landed in the village. One of them hit a saw mill, causing considerable damage.

Several other shells whistled over the roofs of the town, scaring the villagers from their beds.

Gendarmes said the submarine was the Atalante.

When it finally got the range it sank the yacht whose flames were endangering nearby vessels.

The pleasure boat was the property of a Chilean, Baez de la Quadra.

CORSICANA, TEX., JULY 21, 1936

FRANCE'S PLIGHT.

France lately has been teetering on the brink of something serious. The new Blum ministry seems to be keeping its head, but finds that it has to use a stronger hand than many expected. The ferment continues. Riots, minor mutinies and political and economic disturbances of many kinds make outsiders wonder how much longer, or by what measures, France will continue capable of self-government.

Some of the latest symptoms have been factory strikers occupying plants and even imprisoning company officials. The minister of the interior has announced that "the government will use all appropriate means to put an end to these occupations."

Lawless demonstrations like these preceded Mussolini's seizure of the Italian government with his armed Fascisti. The situation was somewhat similar in Germany before Hitler's coup.

France, one of the freest, most democratic nations of the Old World, has been through many a crisis since the democracy she sought in the revolution a century and a half ago was finally attained after the Franco-Prussian war. Her government, casual and flimsy as it usually looks to Americans, has survived by its very flexibility. She endured the depression rather well until lately. Can she survive this present economic crisis?

Probably not without yielding further, like so many other nations, to moderate collective measures. The choice seems to lie between adopting such measures freely and democratically. like the Scandinavian countries, or having them imposed by force from a powerful group or individual at the top, as in the Fascist dictatorships of Italy and Germany or the Communist dictatorship of Russia.

HOT WEATHER SENSE

Such weather as most parts of the country have had lately is hard on anybody, yet most people suffer unnecessarily. Half the suffering could be avoided by sensible adaptation to the heat.

The main principle is, if it's too hot outside of the body, to avoid needless heat inside of the body. This is chiefly a matter of clothing and food.

Light clothing, light in weight and light in color, and as little of it as possible, avoids bottling up internal heat and fends off outside heat. Then nature, operating through the sweat pores, has a chance to operate her cooling system, which is a scientific process of evaporation.

As for food, the heating foods are fats, sugars and starches. The less of them taken into the system during a hot spell, the better. This means cutting down on fat meats, nuts, candy, pastry, cake, and so on, including a lot of drinks and semi-solids that people usually consume because they are refreshing at the moment of consumption. Alcoholic drinks do more harm than good.

You must have nourishment. But anyone who tries for the first time a diet consisting mainly of milk, lean meat and fruit, particularly citrus fruit, may be surprised in a day or two by the way he's standing the heat.

That roar coming from France is the sound of a free and terrified democracy.

THE PAY ENVELOPE

'Twas just a yellow envelope, not more than two by four,
And yet it held a cottage small,
with lilacs by the door,
And meat and bread and lollypops from Burnham's candy store.

Within that yellow envelope were frocks exceeding fair,
A bonnet for a lovely dame and ribbons for her hair,
And shoes of honest leather for a healthy boy to wear.

You wouldn't think it possible that in that package small
Were curtains for the window panes; a rug to line the hall,
And a wedding gift for some one to be married in the fall.

They passed it through a wicket barred and never opened wide,
A tiny numbered envelope a toiler
took with pride,
And never guessed how many splendid things were tucked inside.

GERMAN ENDURANCE

An American observer in Germany reports that the highest type of skilled labor there earns less than 20 cents an hour, half-skilled labor about 17 cents an hour, and unskilled labor about 15 cents. Female labor gets 10 to 15 per cent less. Even when allowance is made for lower living costs, these rates are incredibly low compared with American levels, and the scale of living is correspondingly low.

The German people apparently are able to get along only because they are accustomed to privation, and are willing to make the most of what little they have as a patriotic sacrifice.

The people are nearly all employed, working steadily for long hours. But naturally they cannot prosper when about one-third of their economic effort is devoted to unproductive military preparations, and when the policy of their government has nearly destroyed Germany's foreign credit and world market.

The nation lives more and more in itself, producing perforce what it is unable to import. But this results in greater hardship, through high prices for essentials—artificial cloth fiber and gasoline from lignite coal, for example, costing them several times what they would pay for foreign cloth and gasoline.

The worst of it is that the Nazi government holds out no hope of amelioration in wages. The Germans are a very patient people, but how much longer can they stand it?

STEEL ORGANIZATION

With things in the big steel industry shaping for a labor conflict, the public hopes for the best but expects trouble. Both sides have made fair-sounding declarations. But the employers seem almost to welcome a show-down; and despite John L. Lewis's peaceful pledges, it is well known that workmen in a struggle involving their jobs are hard to control. There may be bitterness and violence.

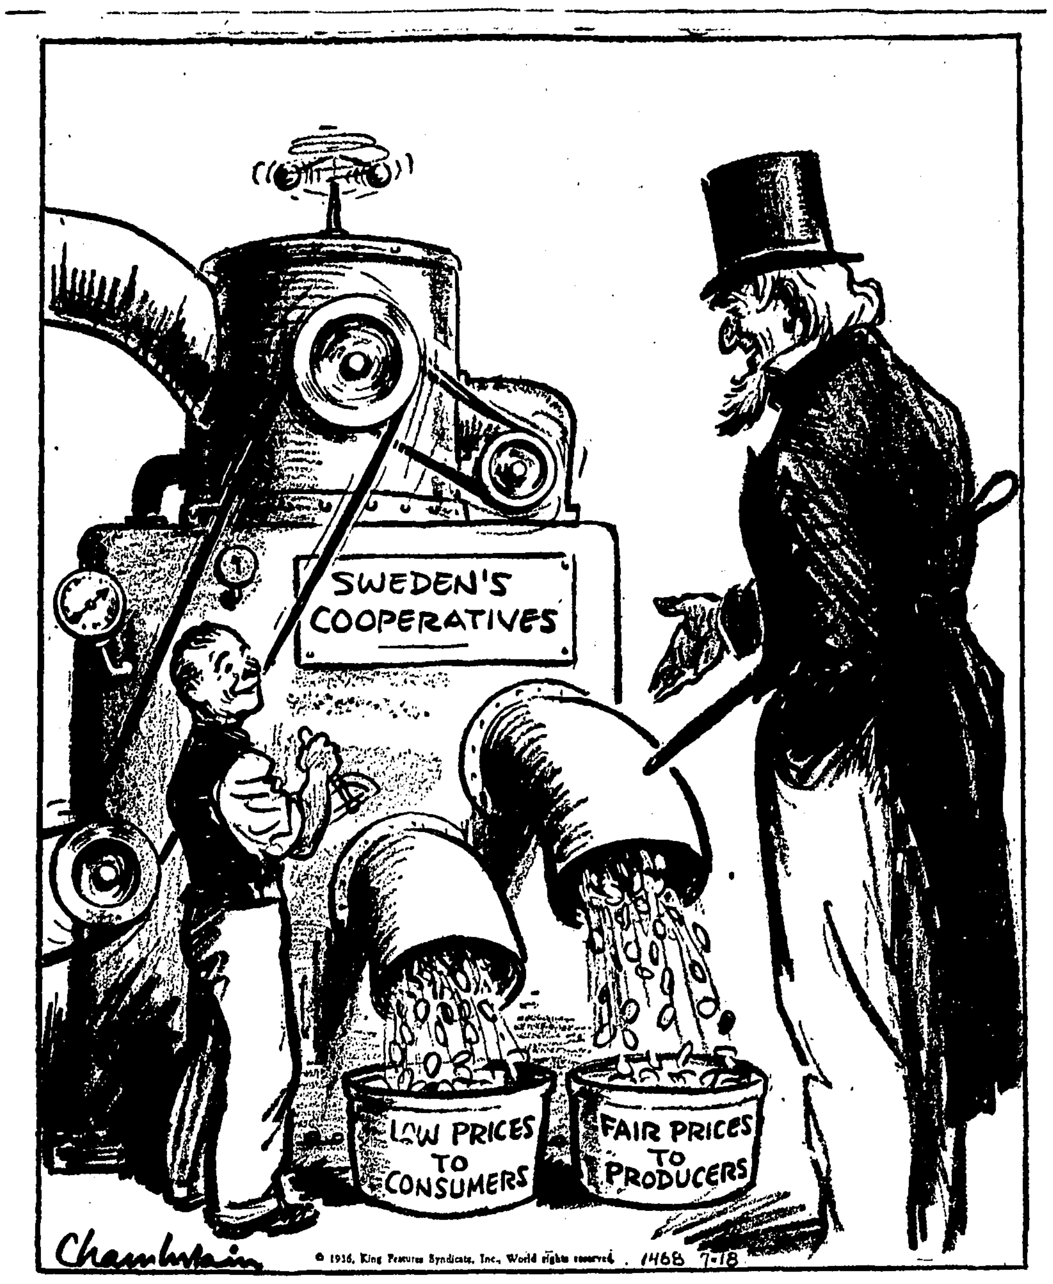
It is a curious situation, if you stand far enough off and look at it dispassionately. Capital is organized in this great industry, as it is in other free capitalist countries. The two sides of the industry, as real and essential to each other as the two sides of a coin, are capital and labor. Capital is the result of human effort and intelligence, and labor is humanity itself. Money has a right to work and make a living, and so have men.

Philosophically, and perhaps economically, if you're going to be clear-headed about it, any theory holding that workmen have no right to organize is untenable. Men, legally and morally, seem to have as much right to organize as dollars have. But it takes time for many, accustomed to regard laissez-faire as a rather one-sided arrangement, to get used to this idea.

Many liberal-minded capitalists will grant this, but will add that the real question is what the workmen may do to the employers' interest after they're organized.

Perhaps the only way out, in the long run, is for government to keep peace in industry by holding a club over both sides. But neither side likes that.

"Would you mind telling me how it works?" By Chamberlain



GOODNESS IN BUSINESS.

The country must have good business before it can have sound prosperity, happiness, self-respect and confidence, says a preacher. By good business, however, he does not mean merely active and profitable business, but business practice based on honesty and with moral vitality.

It is not a new idea or one held only by preachers. "Honesty is the best policy" was a copy book maxim many years ago. The Golden Rule is still older. There are business men today who conduct their business affairs with conscience and social responsibility.

Unfortunately it is not yet a widely accepted principle. Business means to many merely getting ahead of the other fellow, ruthlessness, trickery, selfishness. There have been many example of the apparent success of this type of business, but the depression has checked approval of it and has given the other side a chance to be heard. The stalling of business and industry has shown that prosperity is not permanently assured if it is too lop-sided and built in irresponsible exploitation of human beings.

FOREIGN TRADE

Uncle Sam's foreign trade is rising. Comparative figures for May, last year and this year, are interesting as an indication of the general trend and also as showing how the new reciprocity treaties are working.

In round numbers, our total exports for May, 1935, were $165,500,000 and for May, 1936 they were $200,600,000, showing a total gain of about $35,000,000 for the month. Our total imports for the month gained $20,500,000, leaving a total gain in "favorable balance" of $14,500,000.

Exports to our best foreign customer, Canada, were $30,500,000 in May of last year and $36,693,000 in May of this year, a gain of more than $6,000,000.

Imports from Canada in May of last year were $27,484,000 and in May of this year $29,749,000, a gain of about $2,265,000. This gives a net "favorable balance" of our Canadian trade for May amounting to nearly $4,000,000.

Apparently the reciprocity treaty, if you choose to figure it on a simple basis of sales and purchases, and regard the former as necessarily better for us than the latter, has helped us more than it has helped Canada. Yet Canada seems satisfied.

The actual, all-round benefits are probably better reckoned in terms of trade stimulation. We buy, for example, raw materials and half-finished products from Canada, and shape them for the market, thus employing American workmen and capital; and Canada likewise may benefit from many things imported from the States.

PEOPLE WANT HOMES

"No matter where you are," says a housing official, "people are talking home ownership and the building of new homes. You hear it on the trains, in the clubs and hotels, at dinner parties and in banks and business houses. Modernization and new homes likewise are common topics of conversation in family circles."

We have now made progress, by slipping back to the attitude of a previous generation, when home ownership was the first requirement of a self-respecting family. "Again we are confident that more satisfaction and safety come where families are housed in their own homes."

The growth of this spirit is perhaps the most satisfactory sign of improvement in the present year. Home-building and home-owning are vital, both for family life and material welfare. More home-owning means better families and better business.

NORMAL WEATHER

It isn't fair of the meteorologists to tell us that "unusual weather actually is usual." It is only the thought that we are experiencing something very special in high or low temperatures or violent storms that makes weather endurable and interesting.

The weather experts explain, however, that when they say the weather isn't undergoing any fundamental changes, they are thinking of it over large areas and long periods of time. Weather varies excitingly from day to day, or hour to hour, in a limited locality. On a greater scale, covering 100 years and a whole continent, weather becomes climate, and climate—if you can view it in that remote, detached way — is pretty monotonous and orderly. The authorities say it offers no cause for alarm.

That philosophical view may not protect your house in a tornado or keep your crops from drying up or washing away. But it does have a mildly calming effect on the mind.

A good way to prevent slums is to encourage home-building.

CARTER FASHION SHOP TO MOVE TO DOWNTOWN STORE

BRICK BUILDING ON BEATON STREET LEASED FOR THREE YEARS

Mrs. W. T. Carter, owner of the Carter Fashion Shop, 1422 West Seventh avenue, announced today she had taken a three-year lease on the portion of the Singelton building, between Harris & Jacobs store and the Tatum Hardware store on North Beaton street, and plans to occupy it some time between August 15 and September 1. The stock of merchandise will be moved from the present location on West Seventh avenue, and the portion of the house now occupied by the shop will be converted into an apartment.

The mezzanine balcony near the rear of the new location will be converted into a lounge, Mrs. Carter said, for the convenience of customers and anyone else passing who wishes to rest. Three fitting rooms for white patrons and one for negro patrons are to be built on the first floor, in addition to a bargain annex, at the rear and commodious alteration rooms.

The main portion of the first floor and show windows will be utilized for display of high quality womens' merchandise in attractive show cases and counters.

Mrs. Carter said the present location of the shop was inadequate to do justice to the display and handling of the stock of merchandise, and that resulted in the move down town.

A staff of seven trained saleswomen and seamstresses will be employed in the new store, Mrs. Carter said, and that personnel will be added to if needed.

Corn and Wheat Both Slumped In Saturday Market

CHICAGO, July 18.—(AP)—Showers that splattered on parched corn fields in many sections of the belt last night and early today loosened a flood of selling in the corn market, plunging prices downward the four cent daily limit permissible.

It was the worst break corn has suffered in the current drought inspired "bull" market during which values have been hoisted 30 cents a bushel in a month to the highest level in more than a year.

Wheat broke almost four cents largely in sympathy with the tumble of corn values. Prospects of improved weather conditions in the grain belt, with the forecast predicting considerable rainfall next week over the Gerat Lakes region, did much to induce the heavy wave of liquidation that engulfed all the grain pits. Wheat quotations were below $1,02 a bushel on the decline.

The Kansas City corn market crashed the full four cent limit.

July corn broke to 88 7-8 cents compared with yesterday's peak of 93. September was off to 85 7-8.

With many traders asserting the crop was at the crisis, reports of rains in northern ports of Illinois, Iowa and Indiana and Wisconsin and parts of the Northwest had a timely influence on sellers: The rush to sell which deluged the corn pit carried with it many profit-taking sales and stop loss orders.

Wheat lost about two cents, largely in sympathy with the break in corn.

The abrupt decline of corn values resulted in a virtual halt of trading. Only scattered buyers could be found at the extreme break.

Corn closed at the bottom level while wheat, rallying only fractionally from the lows, finished at 3 to 3 3-8 cents net losses for the day, September being quoted at $1.01 3-4 7-8.

Oats lost two cents.

ANOTHER LANDMARK BURNED EARLY HOUR SATURDAY MORNING

Another of Corsicana's old landmarks was destroyed early Saturday morning when fire of undetermined origin razed the old J. M. Blanding home at 625 West Second avenue, with loss estimated at $1500. The house was owned by Mrs. R. P. Blanding and was occupied by Lonnie Myers and family.

The old structure was reported to have been erected in the 1870's and originally stood on Third avenue just south of its present location. It was reported to have still had its original log sills.

Firemen had a difficult time preventing the flames from spreading to adjoining property as a high wind whipped the blaze from the southwest. The alarm was received at 4.10 a. m., and another was received from 220 West Second avenue at 4:50 where a smaller roof fire had been started by a spark or ember from the earlier blaze. Damage was estimated at $15.

Time For School Transfers Short

NEGRO BOY CHARGED WITH SHOPLIFTING; FOUR OTHER ARRESTS

one of the opposing candidates, had voted for it.

"The governor cannot make the laws," Governor Allred said in a recent speech. "That is the function of your legislature. All your governor can do is to recommend legislation to the men you send to represent you at Austin, just as I recommended old age pensions to your last legislature.

Not Perfect Bill.

"The old age assistance bill that resulted from that recommendation is not a perfect bill. I said it wasn't when I signed it. x x x We will find the solution to our problems and rectify our mistakes. The really important thing is that we are headed in the right direction."

Senator Roy Sanderford, P. Pierce Brooks, Tom F. Hunter and F. W. Fischer, the quartet seeking to unseat the governor, point out that pension payments weren't started until July 1, the latest possible date on which they could begin under the law, and that the rolls then were far from complete. They also have called attention to a statement of pension officials that final action has been taken on only about one-third of the applications.

Allred's opponents declare that if all the deserving persons over 65 years of age had been placed on the rolls by July 1 and had been given the aid to which they were entitled the pension fund would be exhausted.

In reply to their sharp criticism of Allred for not providing additional revenue for the pensions, the governor has said that he will call a session of the legislature to get the revenue as soon as it is determined just what the pension needs will be, and provided a special session is necesary.

SHORT WHEAT CROP TO BRING MORE THAN FOR PAST SIX YEARS

By FRANKLIN MULLIN
Associated Press Staff Writer.

CHICAGO, July 17.—(AP)—Here's a bright spot in the 1936 drought picture for what farmers—at least some of them: The depleted United States crop has a current market value higher than that of any crop in six years, estimated in excess of $663,000,000.

Barring further serious spring wheat destruction, present owners should receive almost $120,000,000 more for efforts in wheat fields this year than they did in 1936, notwithstanding the losses that already have occurred. The return should be more than double that of the lowest income year on recent records—1932.

Grain market statisticians today figured out the value of the indicated 1936 wheat crop exclusive of Durum, based on Chicago prices thus far in the crop year. Compared with their figures for previous years, this stated value was the largest for any year since 1930. It was pointed out, however, that not all of the wheat crop is marketed.

Winter Wheat Benefits.

That farmers in the winter wheat belt in the Southwest will benefit at the expense of those in the spring wheat belt in the Northwest was brought out clearly. Mounting prices have gone hand in hand with the destruction of spring wheat by heat, by drought, but winter wheat production, most of the crop growth having been completed by July 1, is estimated above 500,000,000 bushels for the first time since 1931. Many traders believe spring wheat production may be even smaller than that in the drought year 1934, when the crop totaled only 84,291,000 bushels. Total production that year was the smallest since 1896.

"Median" Chosen.

In figuring the average market value of wheat each year, statisticians chose a "median" between the highest and lowest quotations for December contracts on the board of trade during the six months period beginning with the opening of each crop year, July 1. The "median" for this year to date is $1.04. a price which indicated 1936 production a value of $663,934,960.

Last year this "median" for the six months period was 95 cents a bushel, giving the even smaller crop produced in 1935 a market valuation of $547,600,000. Previous valuations follow: 1934, $489,843,000; 1933, $440.524,000; 1932. $352.594,000. 1931, $510,445,999; 1930, $693,229,000; 1929. $990,379,000. Prior to 1929 wheat prices averaged considerably higher than in recent years.

DROUGHT

that a large part of Iowa, principal corn producing state, would with favorable weather hereafter yield 90 to 95 per cent of a normal crop.

The effect of the falling temperature was demonstrated in North Dakota, where the mercury sank to the sixties. Last week temperatures of 110 and above were common in that state.

A low of 67 degrees was recorded in Chicago today and the weatherman predicted that temperatures in the seventies would remain until tomorrow at least.

While the Middle West and Northwest enjoy respite from the heat and drought, in the state of New York the effects of a prolonged dry spell became pronounced. A rapid shrinkage in milk production was indicated and water shortages were threatened.

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP)—Rains and falling temperatures in the wake of destructive winds routed heat and shook the grip of drought on much of the nation's corn belt today.

A gale which struck northeastern Kansas and Northwestern Missouri at 55 to 60 miles an hour killed two persons and injured at least eight last night, but brought rain to some parched sections.

North winds, whipping up blinding clouds of dust, swept across Eastern Nebraska and Western Iowa, damaging property and felling power lines. Badly needed showers followed.

A tree limb fell through the top of an automobile and crushed to death Forrest Powell, 29, at Independence, Mo. Mrs. McCoy Upstott, 70, was electrocuted when she stepped on a power line blown down at Cameron, Mo. Four were injured when a revival meeting tent collapsed at Pattonsburg, Mo. Four hundred other revivalists were unhurt when their tent was blown down at Kansas City, Kas.

Rains in Missouri.

An inch of rain fell at Cameron, Mo., half an inch at Pattonsburg, and a quarter of an inch at Plattsburg. Dust was spewed into Kansas City, Mo., and buildings damaged. The temperature dropped 23 degrees in Leavenworth as trees were snapped and the city darkened for a time by disruption of electrical service.

Precipitation measured .19 of an inch at Omaha, the first appreciable rain since June 16, and the mercury dropped to 68, the lowest in weeks. The wind briefly reached 84 miles an hour velocity. Several small buildings were unroofed and telephones and power service disrupted.

Iowa Gets Rains.

Rain ranging up to nearly an inch was fairly well distributed over Iowa and temperatures dropped as much as 30 degrees as wind lashed the state.

At Des Moines the dust-bearing gale blew 70 miles an hour, ripping off the roof of the state fair grandstand, tearing holes in the roof of the machinery hall and blowing down electrical lines.

At Sundance, Wyo., resettlement administrator Rexford G. Tugwell estimated one million farm families in 24 states had suffered from drought and predicted 250,000 would need federal aid.

In the vicinity of Sioux Falls, S. D., 10,000 farmers on WPA jobs were ordered to report today for well-digging in four counties.

At Chicago Forecaster J. R. Lloyd said weather bureau reports showed a general improvement in drought conditions.

The nation's total of deaths attributable to weather during the heat wave increased only slightly over the weekend, exceeding 4,500.

WOMAN CARRIED TO ELECTRIC CHAIR IN SING SING PRISON

OSSINING, N. Y., July 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Frances Creighton, electrocuted for the poison eggnog murder of Mrs. Ada Appelgate, was the first person in Sing Sing prison's history ever carried to the electric chair.

Semi-comatose, her head lolling against the back of a wheel chair, Mrs. Creighton was trundled into the death chamber last night and executed along with Everett C. Appelgate, husband of the slain woman.

Appelgate, in contrast, calmly walked in unassisted two minutes after Mrs. Creighton was pronounced dead. He faced witnesses to protest his innocence, and invoked divine mercy for the district attorney who had prosecuted him.

"Before I die, gentlemen, I want to say that I am absolutely innocent of this crime. I pray that God have mercy on the soul of Martin W. Littleton of Nassau county," Appelgate said.

Littleton, the district attorney Appelgate referred to, said, when told of the condemned man's last words:

"The law has taken its course."

A special medical commission appointed by Gov. Herbert Lehman to investigate Mrs. Creighton's condition, had reported that hysterical fear had caused her to feign paralysis of her lower limbs and vocal cords.

The condemned man and woman were convicted of having poisoned a "nourishing drink" and given it to Appelgate's 268-pound wife.

SPAIN

syndicalists and communists there who were standing off rebel forces.

(In Gibraltar it was reported that Spanish city of Malaga was in flames. Hundreds of refugees were streaming in hourly to Gibraltar with 7,000 arrived by mid-afternoon.

(The British destroyer Shamrock was ordered to proceed at full speed to Malaga.)

The Spanish government, summing up the situation shortly after noon, stated "except for Valladolid and Zaragoza, the rebellion has been broken completely or almost complety dominated" on the peninsula.

The official announcement stated Gen. Francisco Franco, leader of the rebellion, had fled from Southern Spain by seaplane, apparently leaving his forces.

(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press.)

MADRID, July 20.—Loyal government troops in Madrid today arrested more than 1,000 officers on government authority, imprisoning them in the military barracks as other loyal troops, in Southern Spain resisted rebel forces.

The government announced that, by this action, the rebellion in the capital was completely dominated. The government declared it was "complete control of everything."

(Despite these government statements, reports from other sources indicated the rebels, in what was described as a movement for the restoration of the monarchy, had won successes. The rightist, Gen. Francisco Franco, was said to have gained control of airdromes in the south with volunteers swelling the ranks of the rebels. The Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Gibraltar reported to London he understood Madrid had been taken by the rebel forces.)

The government reported loyal troops had held control of four military barracks where there were uprisings. It listed these as Carabanchel, Getafe, Maria Christina, and La Montana.

La Montana Rebels Subdued.

The rebels in the La Montana garrison were subdued after four-and one-half hours of fighting in which they were shelled by loyal artillery and bombed by loyal aviators.

Civil guards, assault guards and armed militia assisted loyal troops in the fighting around Madrid.

The interior ministry announced the suspension of all banking operations throughout the country for 48 hours.

A moratorium was decreed for all commercial debts and a 2,000-peseto $280) limit was placed on withdrawals from banks.

Agusto Barcia, minister of state, thanked the people by radio for "their heroic conduct which is in the best interests of the nation in this decisive foment for our future, for Spain, and for the republic's future."

Crowds gathered around radios to hear the government announcement. The news of the suppressions of the rebellion in the capital was received with cheers.

Except for these gatherings, the city, from the early hours of the morning, appeared deserted.

Stores were closed. Patrols of militia, wearing steel helmets and carrying rifles, marched through the streets.

Troops at Stragetic Points.

Assault and civil guards were posted on large detachments on all strategic points such as the telephone building, the postoffice and the war ministry.

At noon a tank lumbered down the Gran Via, the principal business street of Madrid. On each side of it marched armed guards.

After the bombardment of La Montana barracks, on the outskirts of the city, the only sounds heard as the day wore on were scattered shots of rifles and pistols, apparently in mopping up operations through the city.

It was understood that the rebels in La Montana suffered heavy losses.

When the loyal forces gained control the government took over the building which was badly battered.

It was reported that loyal troops had dispersed other rebel forces approaching the capital.

The telephone lines to Paris, which had been cut for three days, were repaired.

The government issued announcement over the radio.

Rebels In Complete Charge of Morocco

RABAT, French Morocco, July 20.—(AP)—Government planes loosed a rain of bombs on the city of Larache today, reports from Port Lyautey said, as rebellious troops claimed complete control of Spanish Morocco.

The death toll in the rightist revolt, which travelers asserted was led by General Francisco Franco, was reported to have risen to at least 60 persons.

Fighting near Larache resulted in 40 deaths, while 20 others were declared to have beein slain near Tetuan.

The revoluting military forces, which a loyal aviator said rose in rebellion early Friday, claimed control of the Spanish protectorate in North Africa with Alvarez Buyla, acting high commissioner of the territory, held a prisoner.

General Franco, formerly military governor of the Canary Islands, was reported to assume direction of the Colonial government.

Reports—which were not immediately confirmed—described serious outbreaks in several cities while other advices said the situation in the colony was generally calm.

Three Spanish warships—sent by the leftist government at Madrid to attempt supression of the rebellion—were said to have joined the rebel forces.

Refugees from the territory streamed over the frontier into French Morocco by bus and auto, bringing various stories of the insurgent movement.

(Late reports from Gibraltar asserted Moroccan troops were on the march toward Seville and Madrid after landing at Cadez).

American Attacked By Spanish Mob

GIBRALTAR, July 20.—(AP)—Jay Allen, American newspaperman, said today he was alive only because he had played dead yesterday.

He was attacked by a mob near La Linea in Southern Spain while motoring. His car was struck by 23 bullets.

"I threw myself on the ground behind the car when the firing stopped and played dead," said Allen. "After the mob had gone I got up.

"I was about to cross the line (into Gibraltar) when I was arrested as a suspected fascist, but later I was released.

"My chauffeur was seriously wounded in the chest and now is in a hospital. My car was wrecked and the luggage stolen."

Allen is a correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. For the last two years he has been living in Spain, engaged in literary work.

Report Barcelona In Flames.

TOULOUSE, France, July 20.—(AP)—Airplane passengers from Spain said today they saw several sections of Barcelona in flames after an air bomb attack by three government planes.

Report General Mobilization.

HENDAYE, France, July 20.—Frontier guards reported today the Spanish government had ordered a general mobilization of all men between the ages of 18 and 30 years for defense against the rightist reebls.

The men were instructed to present themselves to the civil authorities throughout Spain for enrollment in a defensive army.

To The Voters Of Navarro County

In my campaign for State Representative Iassume: That the people of Navarro County are a reading people; that they weigh well the merits and qualifications of each candadite; and that in casting their ballots they will vote to protect their own and their state's interest by selecting the best qualified man for the place.

It is impossible for any man to personally see every voter and personally solicit his support and I am required to depend largely upon the public press to extend to you my solicitation of support.

I was reared in this county and lived on the farm and, taught rural school, until twenty-seven years of age, at which time I came to the bar, and have been engaged in the practice of law at this place for thirty years.

During my adult life I have given much service to the public. I served four years as County Judge, four years as State Representative, two years on the Local Exemption Board, during the war, abandoning my office and giving all of my time to that service. The character of that public service and my fidelity to duty, are matters well within your knowledge.

If I shall be elected as your State Representative my platform will be that of the State Democratic convention which convenes early in September. In all of my work in the State Legislature I shall insist upon the most rigid economy. The legislature has no right to be liberal or extravagant in expending public funds.

I will endeavor to meet every problem in the legislature in a constructive attitude of mind, and will give to every matter arising a careful study and analysis, and will be governed by an honest judgment as to what is best for the general good of the people and the state.

I urge upon the people that it only takes one time to select a man for this place, and that this can be done as well in the first primary as in the second.

I have made such a campaign as I think appropriate to an office of this kind and I earnestly solicit your good offices in the selection of State Representative. Let's finish the matter in the first primary. Don't take any chanec on an adventurer, a novice, a misfit or one without appropriate qualifications for the place, and thereafter complain about the quantity and quality of the laws enacted. The responsibility is with you.

Respectfully,
R. R. OWEN, Attorney.
Candidate for State Representative.

Hunter Says Allred Trying "Bully" Way Into Second Term

PORT ARTHUR, July 20.—(AP)—Tom Hunter, gubernatorial candidate speaking at a breakfast here today, charged Governor James V. Allred with "attempting to bully his way into a second term of office by threatening to block the calling of a very necessary special session of the legislature."

"The governor, in desperation, conscious of his impending political death, is attempting to coerce his way back into office," Hunter said, "but the people of the state will recognize this action for what it is and will call his hand at the polls."

Hunter promised sportsmen of Texas he would make every effort to have the state dove law amended in such manner as to have the open season on the birds coincide with the period in which they are available in the south for hunting.

Under the present open season law, he said, the doves have been gone from this region over two months bfeore the legal season opens.

"I have always been committed to a program for the preservation and propagation of wild life," he said, "and I will do all I can to see that sportmen of the south receive a fair opening date on doves."

Hunter planned to speak in Houston tonight.

TEXAS CENTENNIAL AND CLYDE PANGBORN REPORTED AS SPLIT

BOTH SIDES MAKE STATEMENTS CONCERNING PROPOSED EUROPEAN FLIGHT

DALLAS, July 20.—(AP)—Clyde Pangborn, flier, said today he had split with the Texas Centennial Central Exposition over its sponsorship of a proposed trans-Atlantic flight in the "Texas Sky Ranger."

Simultaneously Frank N. Watson, director of publicity for the exposition, said the Centennial had cancelled its agreements with Pangborn and his associates.

Pangborn said the Centennial had given him nothing but a name for his ship and some publicity. Watson said the agreements were cancelled because flight backers had not lived up to commitments.

Pangborn said he was dickering with newspapers in cities he would visit for group sponsorship of the flight. He said he hoped to obtain the backing of about fifteen of the nation's leading dailies.

The flier said there was a possibility of obtaining the sponsorship of the Fort Worth Frontier Celebration.

Announcement of the split was made as Pangborn left for the airport where he said he would take the ship aloft about 3 p. m., heading for Shreveport, La. He said he would fly from there to New Orleans.

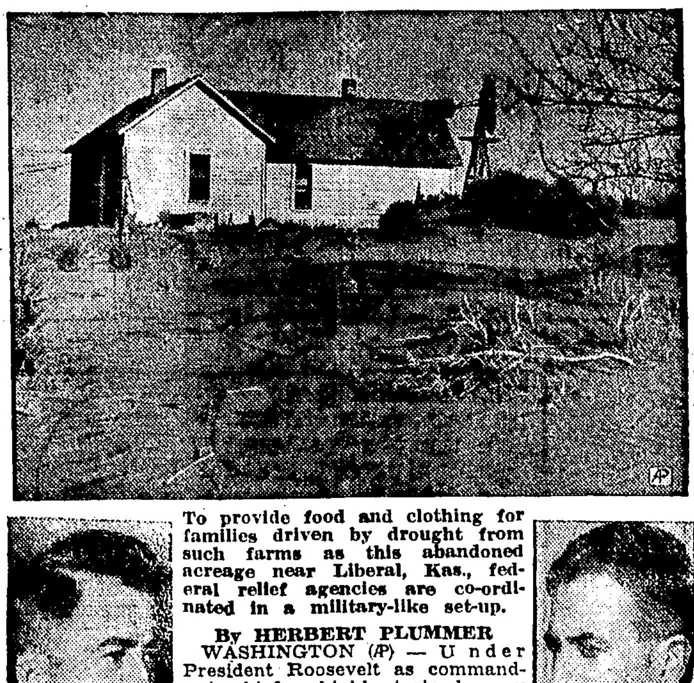
'General Staff' Heads Drought Relief Set-Up



To provide food and clothing for families driven by drought from such farms as this abandoned acreage near Liberal, Kas., federal relief agencies are co-ordinated in a military-like set-up.

CHESTER C. DAVIS

AUBREY L. WILLIAMS

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under President Roosevelt as commander-in-chief a highly trained army of federal experts moves on a united front to battle drought.

The drought relief committee or "general staff" is the central authority. Its four members formulate policies and represent the President.

Secretary Wallace speaks for the department of agriculture.

Dr. Rexford Tugwell's resettlement administration handles the bulk of actual relief work.

Williams Provides Jobs.

Aubrey Williams, deputy administrator of WPA, represents Administrator Harry Hopkins, who is charged with providing jobs for some 50,000 farmers ruined by the drought.

Daniel Bell, acting director of the budget, is the finance officer who digs up the money.

Chester Davis, farm member of the federal reserve board, serves as ex-officio adviser to the President and the "general staff" on arranging credit in the drought areas.

Policies formulated by the "general staff" are transmitted to the inter-departmental drought committee, the "division staff."

Tapp Heads 'Line Officers'

Jesse W. Tapp, assistant administrator of AAA, is chairman or senior "line officer." Tall, broad-shouldered and erect, he is in charge of crop surplus removal and the federal surplus commodities corporation.

Dr. A. G. Black, chief of the bureau of agricultural economics, came to the department of agriculture in 1933 as chief of the corn-hog section of AAA on indefinite leave from Iowa State College.

Lawrence Westbrook, broad-shouldered, with thinning black hair and a dynamic personality, is called one of the most valuable "line officers" in the present crisis because of his familiarity with resettlement work in Texas.

C. W. Warburton, director of the extension service of the department of agriculture, has been connected with the department for 33 years. Gray-haired, mild-mannered and kindly, he has direct supervision over the thousands of county agents scattered over the country.

Field Men Are 'Troops'

Hugh H. Bennett, chief of the soil conservation service of the department of agriculture, came to the department in 1903 and has been in his present position since 1934.

Joseph L. Dailey, assistant administrator of the resettlement administration, a former judge in New Mexico, is in charge of RA rehabilitation work.

W. F. Callander, assistant administrator of AAA, co-ordinates the activities of the various commodity division of AAA under the contract programs. Bald, bespectacled and of medium height, he has been with the department of agriculture since 1905.

To The Voters Of Navarro County

It has not been my pleasure to meet you personally in this campaign as I have been engaged practically all the time in the trial of criminal cases in our district court in attending to the duties of the office that you employed me to look after.

I have not neglected the duties of my office by campaigning and seeking votes for a second term. I have secured 223 convictions in the criminal district court in the 18 months I have served you as your public servant, and to this record I point with some degree of pride.

I have an unfaltering faith in your sense of right and justice and I sincerely believe that you will elect me for a second term as your criminal district attorney.

Your vote and influence will be appreciated.

Respectfully,
JOHN R. CURINGTON.

To The Voters Of Navarro County

As you well know I am a candidate for Treasurer of this county. Since announcing my candidacy I have attempted to conduct a clean, honorable campaign. I have said nothing against my opponents and expect to say nothing except kind things of them, but various and sundry rumors have been circulated about me, one of them to the effect that I am the son of a wealthy blackland farmer. In answer to this charge I wish to say that my father is a tenant farmer in the Pursley community and rents land from Mr. Beckett of Dallas, and has been working that land for a number of years. I again earnestly solicit your vote and influence for this office.

News of County Home Demonstration Clubs

White's Chapel.

Tomato salad is a good way to use left over vegetables and meats Mrs. R. P. Garrett told a group of Whites' Chapel Home Demonstration club women at the home of Mrs. Jack Megaritty, Wednesday, July 15.

Mrs. Garrett demonstrated by making a rose tomato salad as follows:

Select medium-sized, firm, round tomatoes. Peel and cut almost through into six petal-like sections; take out the seed pods, then blend left-over vegetables such as peas, corn or cold meats with onion, celery or lettuce and salad dressing. Put into the tomato and serve as individual salads on lettuse. After salad is arranged to serve add a bit of paprika and a bit of dressing.

She also demonstrated the cup tomato salad

Cut off stem end of tomato and take out seed pods, and use same kind of filling as the rose salad.

Visitors were Mrs. Guy Woods and Mrs. Harold Blankenhip from Tupelo, and Miss Ora Speegle from Barry.

The hostess served ice cream and cake to 35 club women and visitors.—Reporter.

TAX BOARD UNABLE FIX RATE BECAUSE OFFICIALS DERELICT

FAILURE SEVENTEEN COUNTIES REPORT TAXABLE VALUATIONS CAUSE DELAY

AUSTIN, July 20.—(AP)—The comptroller's department said today that 17 counties still had not submitted their taxable valuation figures and that the automatic tax board therefore could not fix the state property tax rate for this year until later.

The law provides that county officials shall make the reports by July 15 and that the tax board shall meet within five days after receiving them to set the rate. The setting, however, always is delayed until near the end of July or in August because part of the counties do not make their renditions by July 15.

Pat Dooley, chief clerk in the comptroller's department, said the renditions had been coming in more promptly this year than usual. He expressed the hope that the remainder would be received before the end of the week. The board should be in position to determine the rate shortly after the renditions are completed, he said.

Dooley said that the counties which so far had not reported were Baylor, Coke, Crockett, Deaf Smith, Franklin, Glasscock, Gray, Henderson, Hill, Houston Karnes, Kaufman Kinney, LaSalle, Loving, Midland and Rockwell.

The tax rate last year was 62 cents per $100 valuation—35 cents for the general revenue, 7 cents for Confederate pension rates. The board of education took action intended to bring about retention of the 20-cent school rate when it raised the per capita school apportionment from $18.50 to $19.

STATE LANDS

"And now the five; you'll wish you had taken it at five. If you lose it, it's gone forever and the other fellow is making the money."

The "five" bid was made and the tract sold, the initial one in the state's experiment to determine if higher bids would result from public sales rather than by sealed bids. For nearly a century leases on Texas' millions of acres of public domain were marketed with sealed bids. Recently, however, bids were called on numerous tracts in South Texas and only one bid was submitted for each one.

Land offered was is Ector, Crane, Andrews, Upton and Ward counties, with most of it in Andrews county. The royalty was fixed at one-eighth of production and the minimum annual delay rental at 50 cents an acre.

Skelly Pays Highest Price.

Fourteen of the first 17 tracts offered brought the university approximately $210,000 for the lease of about 2,200 acres on per acre prices ranging from $26.20 to $300 with gross bonuses varying from $4,100 to $48,000.

The highest price was paid by the Skelly Oil Company for 160.9 acres in Ector and Crane-Ector counties, tract 10, block 35, section 10, northwest quarter, which was not far from production in the Gulf-Waddell pool. Gulf Oil Corporation paid $37,000 for the southeast quarter of section nine in the same block.

Interest lagged in the initial three tracts offered in Andrews county as one bid of $300 for tract 11, block 9, section 1, northwest quarter, was rejected and no bid was offered on the next two tracts. Proximity of Fuhrman-Ford pool production brought better bids on four nearby tracts.

The board, with all three members in attendance, acted promptly on the bids and awarded all but one. Frequently the auctioneer had hardly completed "knocking down" a tract before the board announced "sold."

Cotton "Duster" Is Killed Monday In Plane Crash

BRYAN, July 20.—(AP)—James Daniels crashed and burned to death today while "dusting" cotton from his plane.

The accident happened on the George G. Chance plantation in Burleson county, about ten miles from Bryan.

The exact cause was not known. There was a report that the 31-year old flier's ship was thrown off balance by hitting a stump in a field. He was just skimming the tops of plants as he dusted the cotton with insect-killing chemicals.

Daniels' home was Laurel, Miss. He was survived by his widow, here with him.

Fellow aviators working on the cotton field dusting said a wing of Daniels' plane struck a six-foot stump, hidden in high weeds, and was torn off.

The plane, only a few feet from the ground, flipped over, pinning Daniels in the cockpit as it smashed to the ground, and burst into flames.

Daniels' death was the first fatality among pilots who spend several months each year dusting cotton on Brazos Valley plantations.

Two ships have crashed earlier this year, one burning, but the pilots escaped injury.

Daniels' body will be sent to Laurel, Miss., for burial, but arrangements had not been completed for funeral services.

QUESTIONS THAT ARE ASKED ABOUT BANKING

"Do Banks pay their expenses out of deposits?"

The operating expenses of a bank are not paid out of deposits, because deposits belong to customers. These expenses are paid from the income a bank earns.

A bank derives its income chiefly from interest on loans, returns on investments and charges for financial services rendered.

The earnings of a bank are used chiefly in three ways: first, to pay for salaries, insurance, equipment and other operating expenses; second, to build up a surplus for added protection of depositors and to set aside reserves as a safeguard against known liabilities and unforeseen contingencies; and third, to pay to stockholders, in dividends, a fair return on the money they have invested in the bank's capital stock.

In the management of this bank we endeavor to maintain maximum efficiency and keep operating costs at a minimum consistent with good service.

BEAUTY CHATS

By EDNA KENT FORBES

All requests for beauty information desired by Edna Kent Forbes column followers must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope (s.a.s.e.) and two cents in stamps to cover cost of printing and handling. YOUR SKIN AT NIGHT

EVENING MAKE-UP

Miss Forbes tells you how to make up your face for the evening so you will look glamorous and at the same time give your skin a treatment. Read it in the Chats.

Every woman wants to look glamorous in the evening, and unless she is just naturally born with more than her share of beauty, she will have to resort to the cold cream jar as a means of enhancing whatever nature gave her. Fortunately for her, most of the beauty discoveries lately have been along just these lines—combinations of oil and wax and color and powder, which give to the skin a glow and a softness which has little to do with nature, but which is very pretty indeed.

E. K. Forbes

The ideal thing, no doubt, would be to have one of those superlady's maids who could massage you and make you up to be the most ravishing creature for the evening. But, lacking this treasure, as most of us do, you will have to be your own lady's maid and do it yourself. Begin then with a clean skin, as clean as cold cream, followed by hot soap and water, can make it. Follow this with a quick rubbing with nourishing cream (to restore the oil balance of the skin,) then by witch hazel or an ice rub. All this has cleansed and stimulated and nourished the complexion.

Now you can use your foundation, which will be either a liquid, a cream which sinks into the skin, or a modified grease paint cream which stays on the surface. This, in turn, will be followed by your powder, rouge, general make-up and final powdering. Then come the artistic touches.

One of these, by the way, will be a film of oil on the upper eyelids, preferably a dark oil which serves as eye shadow yet nourishes the skin and prevents wrinkles. Glistening eyelids are quite the latest thing in the beauty world, and, indeed, are very becoming. Oil must be used on the eyebrows as well, to make them glisten, and on the eyelashes unless these are treated with mascara. In that case the oil is used for your health's sake when the mascara has been taken off.

N. H. V.—It is just possible that you need to part your hair on the other side of your head to have it lie in place and not show to two "cowlicks" over the back and top. Whenever there are these unruly spots on the scalp, the hair all around them grows in a certain direction, and no amount of training will change its course. All you need to do is to arrange your hair in the direction it tends to grow naturally. If you do this, neither of the spots will show, as the hair all over your head most likely grows in that direction.

Male Pensioners Outnumber Women List Check Shows

AUSTIN, July 17.—(AP)—The first breakdown of Texas old age pension figures showed that men on the pension rolls when initial payments were made this month out-numbered women by 453.

The rolls listed 20,276 men and 19,823 women. There were considerably more women than men in the lowest age bracket, between 65 and 70, and slightly more in the highest, above 90, but the men were in the majority in the other brackets. The statistics were compiled by the state pension organization.

Pensioners in the 20 districts ranged from 6,312 in the Dallas division to 255 in the San Angelo division. Those on the pension rolls in the Dallas district received $100,304. The 2,833 pentioners in the Houston district were paid $42,860, 2,701 in the Fort Worth district $45,247 and 3,480 in the San Antonio district $52,856.

Payments to the 40,099 pensioners over the state averaged aproximately $16.

The number of persons on the pension rolls by ages follows:

Sixty-five and under 70, 14,041; 70 and under 75; 11,067; 75 and under 80, 8,895; 80 and under 85, 4,358; 85 and under 90, 1,343; 90 and over, 314; ages unknown, 81.

New York Cotton Steady.

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 1 lower to 2 higher with hedge selling being absorbed by trade and Liverpool buying. July 13.04, Oct. 12.17; Dec. 12.13; Jan. 12.12; March 12.13; May 12.13.

The market was firmer after the call in continued trade buying and a scattered demand which seemed to be encouraged by the absence of any heavy offerings. There was talk of a diminishing supply of contracts following last week's liquidation and the closing of the 12-cent loan offer at midnight today.

Oct. sold up to 12.28 and March to 12.19, making net advances of 6 to 12 points on the new crop positions while July advance to 13.12, or ten points net higher and above 30 points above the average quotation for middling cotton in the ten designated markets at the close on Saturday.

The market met somewhat increased offering on the early advance which was attributed to hedging against either spot or pool cotton. The selling was taken on comparatively moderate setbacks, however, and the market at midday was quiet and steady within a point or two of the best on most positions.

A wire was said to have been received in the trade here from New Orleans indicating that about 20,000 bales of pool cotton had been sold over the week end and hedged in Liverpool. According to this report the sales reduced the pool's holdings to about 44,000 bales but official figures were apparently lacking.

Futures closd easy, 10-15 higher. Spot steady; middling 13.27.

New Orleans Cotton Lower.

NEW ORLEANS, July 20.—(AP)—Small losses were marked up against cotton futures at the opening of the New Orleans market today.

Hedge selling, the dominant feature of lastof last week's dealings, continued to exert pressure on the market. There was a small amount of trade buying orders at the first call.

Oct. opened at 12.12, Dec. at 12.09, Jan. at 12.06 and May at 12.08.

The market remained lower for only a short time. The weather map showed that Oklahoma and received no rain over the week-end and temperatures were ranging as high as 115 degrees.

Speculative and trade buying the increased.

July went back across the 13-cent line. Oct. at 12.27, Dec. at 12.21 and March at 12.20 were more than 50 cents a bale higher.

ALFONSO

for or against restoration. It is a national movement."

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, July 20.—(AP)—Former King Alphonso of Spain suddenly departed today with a large amoun tof baggage for an unannounced destination.

The deposed monarch had been living in a castle on the Czech-Hungarian border as a guest of Count Zamoyski.

When he disappeared today he was accompanied by the count.

All day yesterday he sat at a radio set trying to catch the broadcast from the rebel-operated station at Seville. A responsible source disclosed that the castle radio was tuned in on this station throughout the day.

A friend said it was possible Alfonso was heading for Koenigswart near Marienbad, where another friend, Count Metternich, has a castle.

An inquiry at Koenigswart, however, brought the reply that no one was expected there.

Speculation was aroused as to whether Alphonso might be heading for Spain.

A few hours after his departure, Alfonso reached Marienbad by airplane and motored to Count Metternich's castle. Still he made no announcement concerning his intentions.

POLITICS

England. Indications point to a mighty effort by both parties especially in Maine, with a view to the psycholoical effect of the balloting there in September.

The manner in which the old party generals seek to deal with challenges from from other camps remains to be revealed in detail The administration is under special fire just now from Rep. William Lemke (R-ND), presidential candidate of the new Union party. F. E. Townsend, the Rev. Charles E. Couhlin and the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith have rallied gehind Lemke; but the Townsend convention decided not to endorse any candidate.

Three other minor party candidates—Norman Thomas, socialist; D. Leigh Colvin, prohibitionist, and Earl Browder, communist—have spoken out against both Roosevelt and Landon.

Wheat Advances.

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP)—Authoritative unofficial estimates that Canada's prairie provinces will harvest little more than half a crop this season hoisted wheat prices today, notwithstanding corn market weakness.

As a result of more than 3,000 miles of observation by a widely known Chicago crop expert, the three prairie provinces, Canada's bread basket, were figured as promising to average not more than 10 bushels an acre. It was added that nearly one third of Canada's acreage is now practically a failure, regardless of future weather.

Wheat closed firm, 1 cent to 1 5-8 above Saturdays finish, Sept. 1.03 1-8 3-8, Dec. 1.04-04 1-8, corn 7-8 11-4 down, Sept. 85 5-8 85, Dec. 78 5-8 3-4, oats unchanged to 1-4 off, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents up.

Grain Market Irregular.

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP)—Corn prices broke nearly four cents a bushel early today, but quickly rebounded three cents, and continued to fluctuate rapidly.

Change to cooler weather but without rainfall of an adequate kind led to wide differences among corn traders as to crop prospects. Dealings were on a large scale, with strength of wheat values a complicating factor.

Opening 2 3-8 3 7-8 lower, September 82 to 83, December 76 3-4, corn later steadied somewhat about a cent under Saturday's finish. Wheat started unchanged to one cent higher, Sept. 1.02 1-8 3-8, Dec. 1.03-03 1-2, and afterward rose all around, influenced by Liverpool quotations better than expected.

PEIFER

000 of the $100,000 ransom for keeping the gang informed of police movements. Brown was a member of the police kidnap detail at the time.

Brown was suspended after Bolton's testimony, but Sullivan said the three-year statute of limitations had outlawed the Lindbergh kidnap act's application to the Hamm kidnaping, which occurred in June, 1933.

It was Bolton's testimony in the Hamm kidnaping and that of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, which sent such leaders of the gang as Arthur (Doc) Barker to the penitentiary. Alvin Karpis, another leader, pleaded guilty in the Hamm case after first signifying his intention to stand trial with Peifer.

Bolton was named by federal agents as the Karpis-Barker gang's machine gunner.

LARGE ATTENDANCE CLUB BOYS-GIRLS AT A.-M. SHORT COURSE

COLLEGE STATION, July 20.—(AP)—More than 2,300 boys and girls representing Texas 4-H clubs took the lead today in opening the farmers' short course at Texas A. and M. College.

Their attendance was in excess of last year by several hundred and officials believe the number will increase to around 8,000 before the week is over.

Holding the first meeting on the short course program, club boys and girls organized by districts preparatory to election Thursday of officers for the coming year.

Successors to James Grote of Mason county, chairman; and Miss Adeline Fuchs of Washington county, as secretary, will be chosen.

The 4-H club boys and girls were welcomed by President T. O. Walton of A. and M.

Meeting in connection with the short course, the institute for cooperatives began its second annual session with more than 50 persons attending.

The Texas Beekeepers Association attracted 41 members at its opening meeting.

Vice-presidents, and delegates of the Texas Home Demonstration Association also met by districts before noon to outline a program for the general association meetings Wednesday and Thursday mornings.

R. R. Lancaster, extension specialist speaking before a group studying farm crops and soils, related the history of grazing in Texas during the past century.

Factory crops from the farm were discussed at an assembly of adults by Carl B. Fritsche, Dearborn, Mich., managing director of the farm chemurgic council.

H. H. Williamson, extension director, also spoke.

DYNAMITE BLAST

Three bedrooms were undamaged except from the concussion.

A piece of fuse 12 inches long was found under the house, officers said.

Efforts to trace the fuse would be difficult, they said, for it was of a very common type. Police would not admit possession of clues in the investigation.

Indications were that the dynamite had been placed at the side of the dwelling. Dim tracks were found leading to the spot, but a heavy rain which fell just after the explosion had all but obliterated the footprints.

A wall mirror and an electric fan, jarred from the dresser in the room occupied by Mrs. McClure, narrowly missed a child and the mother as they lay in bed.

Joe Cronin's Mother Dies.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Jeremiah Cronin, mother of Joe Cronin, manager of the Boston Red Sox, died here today. She was stricken with pneumonia several days ago.

Cronin flew from the East, arriving yesterday.

Jeremiah Cronin, Joe's father, and two other sons, Ray and James, were at the bedside.

PLENTY OF SEATS

"PERFORMANCE NOT PROMISES" says Gov. Allred

GOV. JAMES V. ALLRED.

Everybody Invited to Hear Gov. Allred on The Important Issues of Today.

Here are Some of the Important Issues Governor Allred are For and Which He Will Tell About in His Corsicana Speech:

OLD AGE ASSISTANCE, UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE, AID FOR DEPENDENT CHILDREN, MATERNAL AND CHILD WELFARE SERVICE, AID FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN, AID FOR BLIND, HEALTH SERVICE

"The economic security of every man, woman and child in this state is of supreme importance."

—JAMES V. ALLRED, DALLAS, AUGUST 4, 1934.

"Out of the economic disaster of the great depression there has arisen a need for social security characterized by Old Age Assistance laws, by unemployment insurance, by child welfare and similar acts designed for the uplift of a Nation's people."—Governor James V. Allred, Houston, May 19, 1936.

"Advalorem taxes were reduced under my administration from the constitutional maximum of 77 cents on the $100 valuation—to which burdensome level they had been raised by previous administrations—to 62 cents, a reduction actually accomplished of 15 cents on the $100.

"Real estate taxpayers of Texas were saved a total of $4,707,-400 on their 1935 tax bill as a result of this reduction. I submit that this 'performance' beats all the 'promises' in the wor'd."—Gov. James V. Allred.

"Initiation of the first broad social security program in the history of Texas, including old age assistance, already has become an accomplished fact; raising of the per capita school apportionment to its highest point in the state's history; and passage of the largest rural aid appropriation in Texas history," says Gov. James V. Allred.

Vast sums of money recovered for the public school fund and for the University of Texas during his seevice as attoeney general.

"I am proud of the fact that our State schools have received under my administration, the most liberal appropriations in their history."—Governor Allred.

"I am glad that I signed the bill appropriating two million dollars additiona for rural aid. When I went in as governor the available school fund was in the red. We paid off the deficit and finished the year with a surplus.

"The State Board of Education raised the per capita apportionment first to $17.50 and then to $18.50, the highest in the history of the state. This has been paid; and even so, we still have a substantial surplus."—Gov. James V. Allred.

SAFETY LANE

The schedule for Tuesday and Wednesday was also announced by the officials of the squadron, with the morning testing session running from 9 o'clock to 11:30, and in the afternoon from 3 to 5, leaving the street cleared for the heavy noon and late afternoon traffic.

Mayor Murchison's challenge to the citizenry to meet the challenge of the municipal government in having 100 per cent of its equipment tested was immediately accepted Monday morning by presidents of the three service clubs, and they in turn challenged each other, and another contest was on to determine which club would record the greatest percentage of its members passing through the lane.

Several automobile dealers reported Monday that they were planning to send all of their vehicles, both new and used, through the tests and secure the coveted "blue ticket" of approval after the various examinations were successfully passed. A large number of citizens called at the city hall during the morning to learn the location of the "lane" so they could put their cars through, and members of the squadron were well pleased with the initial cooperation shown.

Nothing Compulsory.

Safety squadron officials emphasized the fact Monday that there was nothing compulsory about the program, but it was the contribution of the state department of public safety to making the highways safer for traffic by locating defects that might possibly cause accidents in cars before they became involved in any tragic occurrence.

Each car passing through the lane" is checked for proper lights, horn in working condition, muffler, windshield and wiper functioning, steering gear in good shape, and brakes properly apjusted. Each car passing through the tests was given a blue sticker for the windshield, while those having deficiencies received a "pink tickets" upon which the shortcomings of the iddividual vehicle were listed. Drivers were also asked to show their license to operate an automobile.

Officials of the squadron announced Monday afternoon that they hoped to set a new record for number of cars handled on Tuesday and Wednesday after local citizens had been given an opportunity to accustom themselves to the routine at the afternoon session.

DANGEROUS SWERVING

If your car swerves when you apply the brakes, it denotes that the frictional value of the brake lining has probably been impaired. Sometimes a simple adjustment will correct this, With PG Sets, the frictional value remains constant.

TO VOTERS OF NAVARRO COUNTY:

The undersigned friends and neighbors of Hon. Luther A. Johnson, our Congressman, declare our perfect confidence in his ability, his integrity, and his high purpose. He has served this district with singular credit to himself and his constituents; he has impressed his lofty character and exact fitness upon colleagues in Congress, and served through the schooling processes which every new member must experience; and he is now fitted through training, contact and association to meet the larger claims upon him for statesmanship; for which every man attaining the broader scope of service must prepare.

Mr. Johnson has diligently cared for every claim upon him, no one being too humble, no letter of too little significance, to command his earnest assistance.

Luther Johnson was born and raised in Navarro County, has spent his entire life here - - - an open book - - - a splendid example of deserving manhood - - - now arrived at full fruition for the more exacting and exalted duties of Congress; and his life-long friends confidently commend him to voters of the Sixth Congressional District for reelection to Congress; and respectfully urge the citizens of the District to give him the largest vote ever polled.

Let Navarro County People support Luther A. Johnson unanimously.
